

Wilson And Bryan Take Opposite Sides On Treaty; President Favors Submitting Issue To Vote Of People

ALLIES PLAN TO EXPEL TURKS FROM EUROPE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—The allies have decided to accept a mandate over Turkey, the allied powers are in correspondence with a view to ending the Turkish problem of expelling the Turks from Europe without raising such an uprising among the Mohammedan peoples as would endanger the control of the European nations over them.

Information reaching Washington is that these efforts are in progress outside of Paris, where the supreme council is sitting, though it is expected that the ratification of that body will be required to give effect to any plans adopted.

Reports from India, Egypt, and other countries, where the Mohammedans are numerous, of a general objection to the expulsion of the Turk from Europe and insistence upon the retention of the head of their church in Constantinople, under threats of boycotts of Christian business and trade and even actual warfare, have stimulated efforts of the allied powers to find some plan which will satisfy the Mohammedans, and at the same time free Constantinople from Turkish administration.

CRIMINAL'S WIDOW IS BANDIT QUEEN

Mrs. Mae Burzette.

Mrs. Mae Burzette, the young and once pretty widow of Howard "Red" Burzette, who was killed in a police-baited pistol duel last July in which one Sioux City, Iowa, detective was killed, became a "bandit queen" on her husband's death and has been leading three members of her husband's old gang that police failed to locate when they put five of the Burzette gunmen in prison for crimes varying from daylight bank robbery to murder. Mrs. Burzette is now in jail in Sioux City on a vagrancy charge.

MARTENS HAD BOUGHT MEAT FROM PACKERS IS ALLEGED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Charges that Ludwig C. A. Martens, secretary of the Russian Soviet ambassador to the United States, and his secretary, S. Nuzhova, had claimed to have had successful dealings with American meat packing concerns in buying meat for Soviet Russia, despite the American and allied blockade of that country, were made before the senate agriculture committee today by William H. Colver, of the federal trade commission. Mr. Colver said he considered the circumstances "significant" since the owner of a local hotel where Martens and Nuzhova have been staying had been engaged in negotiating the purchase of the meat in question. The trade commission made his charges while explaining other allegations that employees of the commission were under fire as "radicals" and "Bolsheviks." Mr. Colver also charged that former secret service officials at Chicago had "furnish up" arrests of commission employees in an effort to create the impression that the commission was a "hot bed of Bolshevism." He said that H. J. C. Clabough, former head of the Chicago office of the department of justice secret service and his assistant, a man named Barry, caused the arrest of Ralph Mallen at Chicago in the radical raid last week, though no warrant was issued for him by the department of justice. Barry, Colver said, was a special agent for Shift & Company. Mallen later was released.

BANDIT LEADER SENTENCED

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 9.—James "Big Jim" Morton was sentenced today to five years in the penitentiary by Common Pleas Judge Phillips this morning after a jury found Morton guilty of leading the "band" who held up and robbed the West Cleveland Banking Company, of $25,000 on June 18.

HELD FOR BURGLARY

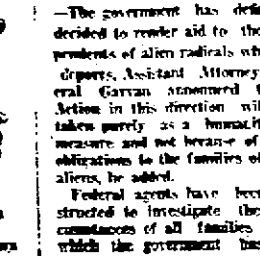

LANCASTER, O., Jan. 9.—Traffic Officer 23, William Blizard, and Mr. Walters, 25, were arrested here today charged with having burglarized the store of H. L. Bovings, 1000 Broadway street. Lancaster police last night recovered $2,000 worth of loot. They also are charged with having burglarized a soft drink saloon.

GIRL KIDNED MEEPLESS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 9.—Police, who have been trying since Tuesday to identify a Cleveland girl taken from a train here when the one stricken by a train which rendered her speechless, today said when the girl, who is 12 years old, recovered sufficiently to say that she was Margaret Arch, 255 East 10th street, Cleveland. Her parents were notified and came here.

LOVE AND REVENGE IN TRAGIC TRIANGLE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Alleged actors in a tragic triangle of love and revenge, James L. O'Dell and his wife Pearl, today were charged with murder in the first degree, the victim being Edward Kneip, whose body, marked with many bruises and stab wounds, was found yesterday underneath a culvert on the Mosquito road near here.

Charles H. Scherer and Edward Spink are held as witnesses. Scherer was the driver of the taxi-cab in which O'Dell and his wife and their alleged victim were driven to the scene of the crime. Spink was Scherer's companion on the ride.

The police say they have confessions from both O'Dell and his wife. According to these, the motive for the crime was revenge for alleged relations between the young woman and Kneip two years before her marriage to O'Dell which occurred in this city December 15, last.

The victim, according to the police, was taken handcuffed to the lonely country road on pretense of being in custody of O'Dell who impersonated an officer, on a charge of criminal assault and the taxi-cab dismissed.

Kneip was then handcuffed to a tree and Mrs. O'Dell beat him with a file about the head until he became unconscious, the confessions are said to disclose. The handcuffs were then removed and the two started away.

O'Dell returned to get a letter from Kneip's pocket and started to cut the clothing from the body. He says, according to police, that Kneip sprang to his feet and struck him.

Mrs. O'Dell then, say the police, struck Kneip on the head with the file and again knocked him unconscious. She also took a knife from the victim's pocket and slashed him several times with it. The two hid the clothing and walked to the city. They intended to leave for Pennsylvania this morning. Blood stained clothing belonging to O'Dell was found in their room.

The parties to the tragedy are all young, O'Dell being 21 years old, his wife 18, and the dead man 23 years.

TO CLOSE STRIKE HEADQUARTERS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 9.—Steel strike headquarters here will be closed at once, but reopened later as a bureau of education under A. F. of L. leadership, it was announced today by S. T. Haunersmark, secretary in charge, who says he will leave town February 1. He said that 4,000 to 5,000 men were still on strike yesterday. Manufacturers declare that only 400 were still out. The district employs nearly 10,000 steel workers.

HIP POCKETS NOT NEEDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Prohibition will sweep hip pockets in men's trousers into innocuous de-troite, according to a prediction by experts of the International Association of Clothing Designers who today issued an edict: "Make them smaller and shallower this season."

Commenting on the attitude of the designers, George W. Hermann, a member of the organization, said: "It is illegal to tote a gun, it is unlawful to carry your handkerchief there, and you can't buy anything but wood alcohol to put in your flask. So the pocket just naturally will shrink away."

Call Off Steel Strike

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 9.—The strike, this action was taken by the miners, field workers and internas committee here last night.

The order declared the committee's decision was forced by "ruthless misuse of power" by the steel corporation, the press, the courts, federal troops, state police and many public officials in that they denied steel workers "their rights of free speech and free assembly and the right to organize." The order added that the union will launch an immediate campaign to further organize the workers "and will not cease until industrial justice in the steel industry has been achieved."

U. S. DRAGNET GATHERS IN MANY REDS, INCLUDING "MASTER MIND"

As a result of the recent activities of department of justice sleuths more than 200 anarchists have been rounded-up to New England. They have been taken to Deer Island in Boston harbor where they are held without bail in New York the most important arrest since the sailing of the Huiulord occurred when Gregory Weinstein, called "the master mind of the Communist movement in America," was taken into custody.

LAKE COVERS SITES OF SEVEN TOWNS DESTROYED BY QUAKE

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9.—Seven towns near Teocelo, south of Jalapa, have been overwhelmed by the earth disturbances and a great lake is covering their former sites, according to a message received this morning from Teocelo through Vera Cruz. Thirty-four bodies have been recovered when the message was filed at Teocelo.

Intense excitement and a palpable of a small and supposedly extinct volcano among the inhabitants of the town of San Miguel and the breaking of the dam of a new crater on Mount Orizaba, provide an explanation of the earth-quake which on Saturday night centered with terrific effect along the line between the states of Vera Cruz and Puebla.

New estimates tell of 200 deaths near San Miguel and in the country districts near Cordoba and it seems probable the final list of casualties will not fall below original estimates of 2,000, even if reports of 1,000 deaths at Cordoba are exaggerated. From computation and comparison, of varying dispatches, it is believed, 20 villages were completely destroyed with almost the double that number of towns and villages partly demolished or badly damaged.

FAVOR ARMY OF 275,000

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—Favorable action was ordered today by the senate military committee on the war department bill authorizing an army of 275,000 men for the current fiscal year in order to provide for the army in Europe and Siberia. The re-organization bill as defined by a sub-committee was reported to the full committee containing a section designed, members said, to bring about the appointment of General Pershing as chief of staff. Some committee members expressed doubt as to the power of congress to designate the chief of staff, therefore a presidential appointment, but the sub-committee is said to favor the provision.

As drawn, the sub-committee bill provides for a single army structure with regular, national guard and citizen army sections and a national military training system. The regular army would have a strength of 250,000 men and 15,000 officers for the regulars.

Hays Touring Mountain States

DENVER, COLO., Jan. 9.—Conferees with Republican leaders of the mountain states and a luncheon for the Colorado Republican central committee today made a busy day for Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, and his co-workers.

Who yesterday began a two-day conference here.

Men and women Republicans met in conference on an equal footing. Mr. Hays again predicted that women would play an important part in the coming campaign. Justice for labor, capital and the consumer is the pledge of the Republican party, Mr. Hays declared at a banquet speech last night. He predicted success for his organization at the polls this year.

VARIED VIEWS ON PEACE PACT ARE EXPRESSED BY DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—President Wilson's decision that the League of Nations issue should be placed before the voters as a "solemn referendum," and William J. Bryan's contention that the Democratic party cannot go before the country on the question but should accept such compromises "as may be possible" are the twin surpluses of the convulse of party chieftains, which found its climax in the annual Jackson day dinner.

The president's message to the party written from the sick room in the White House, and read to the diners, made no mention of a third term for himself and no announcement of an impending retirement to private life as many had predicted it would.

Mr. Bryan's speech, taking definite issue with the president's decision on the great question was accompanied by a statement that he was not speaking as a candidate for the presidential nomination.

Many of the Democratic diners freely said that portion was a distinct surprise to them.

Democrats Have Complicated Issue

Today the rank and file of the Democratic party as well as the leaders throughout the country, are studying the opposite announcements of the two national leaders and are attempting to assess their effects on the party's fortunes at the nominating convention, which will be held in San Francisco, June 28, and at the polls next November.

Many political observers feel that it is yet too early to accurately estimate the position in which the cleavage between the president and the foremost Democrat in private life leaves the party.

Whether the position of the two men now definitely announced, means a fight in the national convention reminiscent of the spectacular battle in Baltimore in 1912, when Bryan forced the president's nomination and reversed the traditional practice of the party conventions in giving a nomination to a candidate who commanded a majority vote, none of the party leaders is willing to predict for publication.

Sentiment Divided

Sentiment among Democratic leaders at the Jackson dinner as expressed in their speeches seemed to be divided between support of the president's decision and Bryan's position, while some of the men who are in the list of nominating possibilities did not touch on the subject at all.

It seems agreed that Mr. Bryan's argument that the treaty should be ratified with such compromises as may be possible will give a tremendous impetus to the movement which steadily has been going on in the under currents of the senate for the ratification of the treaty without reservations whatever, may find a common ground and join with the mild reservationists in putting thru the covenant.

President Wilson's declaration that there can be no reasonable objection to interpretations "to say what the unadmitted meaning of the league is" is thought by some of those on both sides of the contest, may speed the movement.

Today Takes Opposite View

Senator Lodge the Republican leader, and foremost in the fight against ratification of the treaty without reservations which it is concluded will "Americanize" it, takes a wholly opposite view and has issued a statement declaring that the president's message makes impossible the ratification of the treaty without its differences of opinion and ratify the treaty "protected by the principles set forth in the 14 reservations."

An appeal to the people at the polls, the Republican senate leader declared in his statement, would be "the most cordially welcome."

President Wilson, in his message, read to the diners assembled in two separate halls, declared that the "clear and single way out" was to submit the question to the voters as "a great and solemn referendum."

Mr. Bryan, showing all the old vigor with which he led the fight for the presidential nomination at Baltimore in 1912, declared that the Democratic party could not go before the country on the issue, because it involved a delay of 14 months and necessitates only if the Democrats captured a two-thirds majority of the senate. The party, Mr. Bryan declared, will have charge of wrangling as well as voting.

BOXING COMMISSION NAMED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 9.—The boxing commission for the next two years here, announced today by Mayor Fred J. Warnock, includes Frank H. Ward, sporting editor of the Victoria, Dr. James F. Ellis, and George H. Nathan. Mr. Ward is the only hold-over from the old commission. The body will have charge of wrangling as well as boxing.

OHIO TOWNS COVERED BY DEEP SNOW

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 9.—Cleveland streets this morning were covered with a foot deep blanket of snow that in many places drifted to a depth of several feet. Street cars were badly delayed and two interurban lines were virtually shut up with others, running behind schedules. Steam roads reported trains delayed.

The engineer of an east bound Pennsylvania railroad passenger train was injured and scores of passengers were shaken up this morning when the engine of the train jumped the track and crashed into a switch engine. The snow storm was held responsible for the wreck.

ASTORIA, O., Jan. 9.—A snow storm which put in appearance here this morning last night had assumed proportions of a blizzard, this morning. A 10 to 12 inch fall of snow, coupled with a north wind, hindered traffic greatly.

CANTON, O., Jan. 9.—A heavy snow fall during the night seriously crippled the city and interurban electric railway traffic. All buses were making vain effort to get on schedule at 6 o'clock this morning. There was a fall of six inches of snow, chiefly in the form of a cold drizzle followed and hard upon crust of an inch or two was formed. Pedestrians moved with difficulty.

NEWARK, O., Jan. 9.—Interurban and city cars were delayed this morning by snow and ice from last night's storm. A fall of snow four inches deep was covered by a heavy crust of ice.

CONNEAUT, O., Jan. 9.—A heavy fall of snow, drifting to a depth of several feet in places, greatly hindered traffic here today. Up to noon not an interurban car had reached the city.

AKRON, O., Jan. 9.—A drizzling rain which froze as it fell, added to difficulties in maintaining traction schedules, here today following a four-inch snow fall last night. Street cars and snow plows ran all night and kept the tracks clear.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Jan. 9.—Snow and sleet storms prevailed over the greater part of the southwest today. Train service and wire communication were hampered seriously. Winfield, Kansas, reported a 15-inch snow fall.

Federal Agent Under Bond

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 9.—E. J. Williams, department of justice agent, is at liberty today under bond, after his arrest last night on a charge of assault and battery made by Morris Grubbin. Grubbin, who says he is an American citizen, was taken in raids on red halls here and later released. He says that Williams beat him during a "third degree" examination.

Made Talk To, Eagles

Grand Lodge Deputy of the Eagles, Attorney Russell Knappier of Columbus, who was in the city on legal business Thursday, made a talk to members of the Eagles at their weekly meeting last night.

Attorney Knappier is a former state president and a former state deputy of the lodge. He urged to local members to put on a membership campaign and it was decided before the meeting closed to open a campaign today, the chapter to be open for sixty days, the membership fee being lowered to $5 for this set period. Attorney Knappier made a splendid talk which was well received by the local members.

"BEST PEOPLE ON EARTH," SAYS WOMAN DEMONSTRATOR

Mrs. Temple and her corps of women demonstrators, who have been in the city for the past several days introducing Enterprise flour, made by the Valley & Spies Co. of St. Louis, insist that the citizens of Portsmouth are among the most hospitable people on earth. She says that she and her corps of demonstrators have been accorded splendid treatment here. Mrs. Temple declares that the Times must be the most widely read newspaper in the country for in practically every home they visited the housewives knew of the merits claimed for Enterprise flour. She stated that she had been instrumental in placing the flour in more than fifty stores and reported heavy sales. The flour is distributed locally by Leichter & Jordan.

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears. Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

FIX THE LIMIT ON STANDARD RETURN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—Continuation of the standard return to railroads for a period of six months after the termination of federal control was agreed upon today by senate and house conferees on railroad legislation. In fixing this date the conferees accepted the Esch bill provision. The Cummins bill would have limited the time to four months.

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR"

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 9.—"I bought her and I paid for her, and I'll use her as I want to," Charles Lewis, negro, told Judge Osborn in municipal court, where he was arraigned for assault and battery upon his wife, Stella.

"Not for the next year or so," the court assured him as he imposed a sentence of six months in the work house and fined him $200 and costs.

Are Not Applicants

Editor Times:—Please correct an item which appeared in yesterday's Times. It was stated that Rev. McFie, Rev. Chadwick and Rev. Gillespie were applicants for the pulpit of the First Baptist church.

Neither of these gentlemen are applicants, though at least one of them has been sought by the First Baptist church. They are all excellent men when churches seek and who do not seek churches.

Fearing to cause these men embarrassment, I desire to offer this correction.

Fixtures For New Store

Announcement was made by A. Kline, proprietor of "The Fashion," that he had placed an order for fixtures for his new store that will be erected on Gallia street, between the General Service Co. and Sun theater buildings. Mr. Kline stated that everything that entered into the erection and furnishings of the building would be of the highest possible grade. It is hoped that the building, completed by early fall, Mr. Kline stated that he predicted the store which will occupy three floors, would be one of the finest in this part of the state.

Harvard Head

Urges Compromise

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—A letter from President Lowell of Harvard to the Senate of the United States, urging that the Senate should not "stand too firmly" against a resolution to approve the terms of the National Agreement, was made public today by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts.

Addressing the Senate in an address of commendation, President Lowell wrote that if Article 10 was a stumbling block to a compromise, the administration might well consider the point since the real struggle of the present in providing ways seems to rest in the compromise beyond provisions of Article 10.

"It seems to me that the Senate should not stand too firmly against a resolution to approve the terms of the National Agreement, and that the Senate should not stand too firmly against a resolution to approve the terms of the National Agreement."

Sanitary Conditions Of The City Are Discussed

Portsmouth's sanitary conditions were discussed from all angles at the second Chamber of Commerce forum all day. "These conditions are not exceptional, the same conditions are to be found in Earlytown and in the Mill street section," continued Mr. Harbord, who said that such conditions affected both the morals and intelligence of the people, but that the sanitary conditions were not only found among the poor.

He told of a case where a family had a piano and violoncello, had a dog and a cat and several children who did not know the meaning of underwear and those of them could read or write. In closing he said that the citizens must be awakened to the conditions and that they can now voice their opinions through the Chamber of Commerce.

Ed S. Gilliland, of the Bureau of Community Service, then died number one case of unsanitary housing in the different parts of the city. The remarks of Mr. Harbord and Mr. Gilliland, concerning the frame outhouses which are so common and which spread disease so easily.

Alvin St. Jordan, then told of how the board of health and council had talked of a garbage disposal plant for Portsmouth and how the board of trade had been called upon to assist in securing such a plant. The board of trade referred to the state board of health asking if a disposal plant would be recommended for Portsmouth and the state board replied that they would not recommend any plan until a complete sanitary survey had been made. Mr. Jordan then explained that lack of funds had not permitted such a survey.

After the meeting lunch was served and a survey would be needed before any definite plan could be put into effect.

John T. Walter, well-known plumber then took the floor and spoke of how the sewerage report showed that sanitary sewers had been built and no tapping and said that it was well known that the sewers had been tapped and not paid for. His idea was to force the payment for these illegal taps and to force property owners to tap where they had access to a sanitary sewer. City Solicitor Skelton cautioned the members by reporting that property owners could be forced to tap, and that a fine could be imposed for not tapping and for illegal tapping. Mr. Walter's plan was to use the revenue received this way to pay for furthering of sanitary conditions.

Dr. W. D. Micklethwait, told of what things he thought should be done to make the city sanitary. He urged that construction of storm sanitary sewers in all parts of the city, paving of alleys, paving of all streets and keeping them in repair and the laying of cement or stone sidewalks adding that brick sidewalks are unhealthy.

Mrs. Clara Foster said that she did not think it right to force property owners to tap while property owners in sections of the city where they do not have sanitary sewers cannot tap.

Dr. S. B. McKerrillan urged the building of more sewers and said that the use of a little more common sense would aid in combating some of the unsanitary conditions.

Dr. St. Jordan closed the meeting by making the motion that the directors appoint a committee on sanitation.

After the meeting lunch was served.

From 4 Per Cent Lagered Product

Our New Process Beverage

The Brewing of the beverage, the extracting of the alcohol, the de-naturing of the same, and the selling of de-natured alcohol is all under Government supervision.

Important

Notice and Guarantee to the Dealer and Consumer

We guarantee this beverage to be perfectly pure, thoroughly fermented, and entirely free from readily fermentable sugars. It is treated under an entirely new and exclusive process, which is known as a complete, continuous and one-operation de-alcoholizing system. It is made from the finest brew possible to be produced from barley and hops. This brew is made with a very high percentage of extract matter, and is thoroughly fermented so as to prevent after fermentation. In the manufacture of this brew NO substitutes are used. The aroma, flavor and general character of the brew is not disturbed in the least, and, in fact, the taste of the beverage is just the same as it was before. In the process used by us all readily fermentable sugars are fermented, leaving the residue extract in a predigested condition which is easily assimilated by the human system. Undoubtedly, therefore, it will be recommended by all reputable physicians, as malt and hops are the most digestive articles to drink.

Since this beverage has been offered to the public we have had numerous inquiries asking whether or not the sale of the same is legal. These inquiries came to us on account of the beverage being so very much like real beer. It is mainly in answer to these inquiries that we are placing this little note in each case. We positively guarantee that this beverage can be sold or consumed anywhere without violating any laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquor. We also guarantee that no after-fermentation can set in, because, as stated above, the beverage is a thoroughly fermented and finished product. We ask you to kindly compare it with any other cereal beverage and judge for yourself whether or not all the statements we make herein are correct. This is the beverage which we are backing up with our reputation.

This drink does not have to be served frozen, but can be served as the old 4 per cent product was in regard to temperature. Try a sample and be convinced that we have the only pure, nutritious and healthful beverage. It is NOT a checked fermentation. It is free from any drugs which may derange the stomach. We defy any person to say that this drink is not as healthful as the old 4 per cent alcohol product used to be, and claim it is the best on the market. We are anxious to serve and please you.

Yours sincerely,

HUSBAND SEES A BIG CHANGE IN HIS WIFE

HUSBAND CAN NOTICE A BIG CHANGE IN WIFE

Woman's Health Is Much Improved Since Taking Vo-Tonic

"Has Built Me Up All Over," She Says
Declares It Is Real Pleasure To Recommend "Builder of Strength"

Although Mrs. Mary Bonner, of 137 Clark street, Cincinnati, O., has been taking Vo-Tonic, "Builder of Strength" only a short time she is so much improved that she says her husband can see a big change in her. "I know I feel a lot better and the fact that my husband can see such a big change in me is convincing proof of the work Vo-Tonic has been doing in my case," Mrs. Bonner said.

"My stomach troubled me and I also have been nervous and run down for a long time," she continued. "I had indigestion and constipation and gas always formed on my stomach after eating. I was constipated so bad that I had to take laxatives all the time.

"Now consider that I have only taken one bottle of Vo-Tonic and then see if you don't think what the medicine has done for me has been unusual. The constipation is gone. I do not have to take laxatives at all now. The indigestion is much better also and I am never troubled with gas on my stomach after eating now. My nerves, too, have been greatly improved by Vo-Tonic and I notice that I have been built up all over."

"My husband says that he can notice a big change in my condition and that is convincing proof that the medicine has done me a great deal of good. It is a real pleasure for me to recommend Vo-Tonic to everybody who is suffering as I did."

Vo-Tonic "Builder of Strength" brings the weakened run down man or woman a good appetite and good digestion. It helps the stomach take strengthening nutrition from food to nourish and build up the body and system all over. Vo-Tonic also helps the nerves and permits sound, refreshing sleep every night. As a result, the weakened, run down man or woman soon returns to full, normal strength and health.

Vo-Tonic, "Builder of Strength," is being specially introduced in Portsmouth at Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy.

RATIFICATION OF TREATY WITH OR WITHOUT RESERVATIONS, POMERENE'S VIEW ON SUBJECT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—Ratification of the peace treaty, with or without reservations and no government ownership of railroads, were the outstanding points of the address of Senator Pomerene at the Jackson Day dinner.

"Stabilization, not agitation," was declared by the speaker to be the demand of the hour, and ratification of the treaty to be the first step toward reaching this condition.

"The American people demand ratification," he continued. "They believe it to be the first step toward world peace. I do not doubt our allies will accept the best they can get at the hands of the senate."

"Opponents of the league of nations should not forget that there already is a league of internationalists, Bolshevists and I. W. W.'s."

Turning to the railroad problem, Mr. Pomerene said:

"It is with extreme regret that I learn an effort may be made to commit the Democratic party to government ownership of railroads."

"If there ever was any substantial sentiment in this country for government ownership, it has disappeared in the face of the experiment we have had in the last two years."

The Plumb plan, advanced by the railroad unions, was denounced as a scheme "to allow to Russian socialism" that the speaker was amazed that any American believing in the institutions of this country could suggest it. Denouncing his objections to government ownership, Mr. Pomerene said such a scheme would mean the sale of billions in bonds which would depress other government obligations and would involve intricate local questions between the states and national government.

Mr. Pomerene, comparing the Democratic and Republican records in legislation, cited, as constructive Democratic achievements the federal reserve bank system, merchant marine trade commission, tariff commission and export trade law. Replying to Republican charges of extravagance in the war, he said:

"War itself is extravagance. Let your relief your money will be refunded.—adv.

Soldier Granted a Divorce

Elwood Smith, soldier, now in service on the Texas border, was granted a divorce by Judge Thomas yesterday. He was married to Alice W. Smith, whom he married on Jan. 15, 1919, in this city. The case was heard some weeks ago and the decree was granted on the ground of cruelty. Miller, Miller and Searl, attorneys for the plaintiff.

Transcript From Records Filed

A transcript from the docket of Judge James N. Kates in the case of Wrayley Bros. against J. E. Blackburn, merchant, was filed in the office of the clerk of courts today. The plaintiff sued and recovered a judgment by default in the court below for $2,681 on a claim for merchandise. The claim is disputed by the defendant, who appealed the case.

Ella Mefford Seeks a Divorce

Charging neglect, cruelty and infidelity, Ella Mefford is seeking a divorce in an action instituted in common pleas court today through Attorney T. C. Beatty against Charles Mefford, Clinton street man, whom she married August 6, 1912.

In her petition the plaintiff complains that Mefford has failed practically all their married life to furnish her with a proper home and declares that at various times he has struck and abused her. She further alleges that he is fond of associating with other women and has been guilty of improper conduct, she says.

Will Filed for Probate

Under the terms of the will of Christopher Schmitt, late of this city, who died December 31, last, offered for probate today, the testator leaves, as executor, the estate of Mrs. Dium, who came all his property to his daughter, Barbara Dages. The will was executed August 2, 1905.

Following a hearing on a motion to terminate allowance for attorney of $35 a month to the defendant in the case of Andrew Dium, N. & W. engineer, and his wife, Ida Dium, formerly of this city, now living at Marion, Judge Thomas today overruled the motion and ordered Dium to continue the payments. Dium and his wife have been separated since March, 1913, and since then he has been making payments under a written contract which was approved by the court on March 10, 1917, when Dium's suit for divorce was dismissed. Attorney T. C. Beatty appeared for Dium in support of the motion and Attorney Theo. K. Funk for probate today, the testator leaves, as executor, the estate of Mrs. Dium, who came all his property to his daughter, Barbara Dages. The will was executed August 2, 1905.

Stole His Pork

Thieves perpetrated a cruel act on Thomas King, colored, of Eleventh street, when they entered his smokehouse last Wednesday night and made away with 200 pounds of fresh pork which he had laid in for his winter's meat supply. The theft was reported to the police yesterday, but thus far they have been unable to strike upon a clue that would lead to the apprehension of the guilty parties. Two hams, two shoulders, and one side of meat were taken. Entrance to the building was made through a window by breaking the glass.

The Reese Formula R-11 Did It

Such is the way B. L. Allen, assistant foreman, N. and W. railway who lives at 924 Walnut St., Portsmouth, Ohio, speaks of the benefit the Reese Formula R-11. In his inimitable style Mr. Allen tells of this great remedy in the following letter.

The Reese Formula Co.
Huntington, W. Va.

Dear Sir—

I have been troubled for a long time with nervous indigestion and rheumatism and could not eat or sleep. Lots of nights I never closed my eyes and often eating would leave a burning in my chest almost unbearable. I saw the medicine in the window at Fisher and Streich's Drug Store and I decided to get a bottle and try it as I have always tried everything I saw. I am glad to say after taking two thirds of the bottle I can eat like a horse, sleep like a country boy and feel like I was 16 years old. If you wish to use my name you are at liberty to do so as I will always recommend Formula R-11 to my friends.

Yours Truly,
B. L. Allen, Ass't. Foreman, N. and W. Ry.

PETER AND JOHN HEAL A LAME MAN.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 3. GOLDEN TEXT—Matthew 12:12. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Matthew 16:2, 3. MARK 16:7-11. LUKE 9:40. JOHN 11:2. 1 Peter 3:11. PRIMARY TOPIC—A Lame Man Made Whole. JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter and John at the Beautiful Gate. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Faith and a Helping Hand.

The indications are that some months had elapsed since Pentecost. The believers were being taught by the apostles, who were showing their credentials by their mighty works (2:43).

1. The lame man healed (v. 1-11). 2. The apostles (v. 11). Peter and John were going to the house of worship. They were going up to Jerusalem to worship though they knew full well the corruption of Jerusalem. What is needed today is not separation from denominational bodies so much as for those who know the Lord and the higher things of the Christian life to help lead those who lack these things into the better way.

2. The place (v. 12). It was at the beautiful gate which led from the outer to the inner court of the temple. This was the place of the entrance of the place of worship, because, where man comes closest to God he also comes closest to his fellow man. Human instinct is quick to discern this. Beggars are seldom found at doors of theaters and hotel lecture halls.

3. The man (v. 2, 23). This beggar was lame from his birth.

4. The method (v. 4-6). (1) Gained the man's attention (v. 4). Peter and John commanded him to look on them. Having secured his attention they gave him more than he asked or expected. He asked for money and got healing.

(2) Peter commanded him in the name of Jesus (Christ of Nazareth) to rise up and walk (v. 6). This was the very thing he had been unable to do for so many years. Was not this making his very impotence? Not! Not! It was in the name of Jesus. With the commandment went the ability to do.

(3) Peter took him by the right hand (v. 7). This act was meant to give impetus to his faith, not strength to his ankle. (4) The man's response (v. 8). Strength came to his feet and ankle bones at once. He stood, he walked, he leaped and shouted praise to God. He thoroughly advertised the miracle. He ascribed the honor to God for his healing and walked into the house of God. The one who has experienced the life of Christ will surely make it manifest.

5. The effect (v. 9-11). The people were filled with wonder and amazement. The multitude ran together to see this wonderful thing. There was no question as to the genuineness of the miracle, for this man was a familiar figure for many years. This miracle may be regarded as a parable setting forth the work of the church to the world. (1) The helpless beggar had to be carried to the temple gate. Men and women out of Christ are spiritually helpless; they need to be brought where the life of God can be applied to them. We should bring sinners to Christ. (2) Taking him by the hand shows the manner of the Christian's help.

11. Peter Witnessing of Jesus Christ. Before the multitude (v. 12-13).

This miracle focused the attention of the people upon Peter and John. Peter immediately turned their attention from himself to Christ. This is most unlike the claimants to divine power today. Declining power of his own, he seized the opportunity to preach Christ to the people who had assembled. He told them it was faith in Jesus Christ, whom they had followed but discarded, whom they had deliberately defected up and denied before Pilate when he desired to set him free, and that they desired a murderer to be executed freedom instead. He showed that the disciples were also witnesses of this and charged home upon them their awful guilt; for they had denied the holy one and the just, and chosen Barabbas, a murderer, instead of Christ, and killed the Prince of Life. He applied to them to repent (v. 19). He told them that they had committed this awful crime in ignorance. God would pardon their sin if they would repent. He assured them that Israel would yet enjoy refreshing seasons from the Lord, when God should send Jesus Christ back to earth to consummate the work of redemption. He appealed to the Scriptures as the basis of his warnings and promises (v. 20-28).

12. The effect (v. 13-17). The people were filled with wonder and amazement. The multitude ran together to see this wonderful thing. There was no question as to the genuineness of the miracle, for this man was a familiar figure for many years. GOVERNOR COX CHARGES REPUBLICANS WITH BEING REACTIONARY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Charging the republican party with being reactionary, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, speaking at the Jackson Day dinner here, declared the "democracy of the nation" stands between reaction and that form of radicalism "which is impatient with the processes of orderly government." He charged the republicans with creating the most expensive campaign in the history of the country, and said that the republicans were "the greatest enemy of the nation's progress."

"The chairman of the national committee in assuming no part in the speakers' doubtless believed and desired that personal inclination influenced by the condition that surrounded us, would yield what might be regarded as a representative statement of the national political situation."

In Ohio we are several hundred miles from the federal seat of government, and the expression of policy into laws, with all the rights of this battle-ground, seen by the through the perspective of distance. By geographical location, we are in close contact with the charity and fine sentiment of the South, and the rugged qualities of the forest states to our north. We assimilate what of western expansionism in government appears to be the people, and we become what whatever of reaction comes from the East. It has been said from without the state that in consequence of this, the Ohio viewpoint is the composite thought of the nation. We Ohioans have been too modest to challenge the claim, and too gracious to admit it. However, the conditions flowing from them, particularly in the last year, have made a distinct impression on our people. The situation at the national capital where matters finally form, and results secure upon which public judgment is passed, has been twice speaking in the making. It may be well to recall the outstanding circumstances of that process.

First Republican Tradition. We recall the political content of 1918 with its every phase. The Democrats voiced the pride that deserved place in every American heart in the part of the country had played in war, accepting responsibility and offering apology for the policy which had led to the great achievement we based. On the other hand, Republican leaders gave coming sympathetic ear and word, as a shield for poisonous partisanship, to every momentary complaint born of the stirred emotions of the time. The wounds of a bleeding nation were sealed upon with almost ghastly tenderness and an attempt made to turn heartaches and anxieties into Mitternights against governmental authority. It was for these misguided zealots in a lonely cause, however, to discover that the cunning sense of service and sacrifice was but a resounding compensation for all that had been given and lost.

But this was not the worst feature of that campaign. The Republican leaders collected notoriously with every disloyal group. The result in 1918 was not a Democratic defeat. No political party which denies intercourse with treason offers a reverse in so doing. The Democracy fought that battle with its ranks as free from traitors as old and new. It was the triumph in its self-respect, two forward in the present and the future.

Contentment, it has continued its support not only of our soldiers in Europe, but of our Commander-in-Chief in America. From that day until this, it has recognized the growing task of the hour—the completion of the war job which the mandate of human science and of God himself had committed to America.

And what of the opposition? In dealing with it, I speak of the Republican leaders only, because in the great rank and file of both parties, patriotism abides. One must ask himself, however, why it is that the Republican leaders move with such eagerness in both public interest and public opinion as to conform to our understanding.

When soldiers were finally returning to their homes when millions banded in policy and domain out of the ruins of blasted hopes and broken hearts, had fallen to pieces from the wreckage of time, and millions of people needed the balance and strength of a just authority to which the happiness of generations to come was to be written and pledged, when the whole world, worn and enfeebled by the disasters of war, reached forth its hand for the peaceful fruits of victory, America's leaders, and it came out of it as a Holy Writ, he declares that "in the future a political platform is to be regarded as a sacred covenant." And then, not finding anything in the Republican storehouse to meet these salutary requirements, a reward of ten thousand dollars has been offered in the public prints for its conception. Even the children of the schools have been appealed to. In the days and policies of Lincoln, this was the work of statesmen.

three for partisan advantage struck them down to the woe of the darkest hour who had ever known.

And why? In order that the sorrows of mankind could multiply and then in their aggravated form, be charged to the man whose chief offense in the reckoning of his partisan critics, consists of the service he has rendered, and the gratitude he has won from mankind.

They may forget, but the ages will not. That America was a war which experts declared was lost; that the genius and strength of our people were assembled in the manner of a modern miracle; that last and lost were not a recurrent reality at the peace table when the greatest spoils that ever awaited national captivity were in sight; that a war fought for a world's democracy was not ended with a party common to autocracy; that our soldiers died that wars should no longer be and that our public conscience remained true to the pledge of our honored dead; that America not only won but financed the world in the moment of extreme stress and now with credits standing to the lowest ebb, the American dollar under the fiscal policy born of honored patriotism is the only national symbol of value selling at a premium. Yes, history will tell it all, and the name of the man who sealed the lips of the afflicted peoples of the earth, who sympathized with their honorable aspirations for freedom, and then were the elements of simple justice into the fabric of international policy—his name will be changed by the children of men yet unborn, while the names of those who made from their malignant spite, a Senatorial chapel against Woodrow Wilson will have been assigned to a part and place in the records of time too unimportant for voice to recall or memory to retain.

With hands devoted to the mischievous task at hand they now approach the campaign of 1920 with swarming bravado, believing that racial discontent in individual groups which they unblushingly keep alive, makes victory certain, regardless of other things which bear vitally on the common weal. They have already proclaimed the public service, and now they are making a formal call to the seats of power, using the words of Cardinal Merriam, when the Kaiser's embassy told him that Germany's triumph was certain, and that America could not save the day, because it required two years to make a soldier: "We will wait and wait."

Republican Precedents Not Followed. At the beginning of the present Congress, the majority leaders met and resolved, in a skillful phrase, they sought to make the great war and particularly our government's conduct of our part in it, an unwelcome affair. What will now be a priceless legacy to the generations to come, they would have discarded by irresponsible change. The nation, they argued, was ill from malnutrition and had only to be taken into their fostering arms for remedies that would surely cure. It is unnecessary to run over the long list of things that were promised, but it is fitting that the country be reminded of the fact that not a single constructive thing has been done, and that the nation's health and corruption so flagrantly alleged, have not been found.

Instead of making any apology to those who have suffered all in the waging of war, or of giving explanation to the American people of the naked pledges we now hear through their chairman, Mr. Hays, a new affirmation of faith. In phrase quite as solemn as Holy Writ, he declares that "in the future a political platform is to be regarded as a sacred covenant." And then, not finding anything in the Republican storehouse to meet these salutary requirements, a reward of ten thousand dollars has been offered in the public prints for its conception. Even the children of the schools have been appealed to. In the days and policies of Lincoln, this was the work of statesmen.

As the ranks form for the contest near at hand, there are manifestations which must be regarded as ominous signs. The old guard, so-called is in the midst of the party which it well-nigh wrecked by its greed. With little regard for the principles of a democracy in government, they believe our institutions are safe only in the hands of a class, and once custody is procured, affairs are so shaped as to make government the agent of its self-appointed victims. No man, who gives unprejudiced voice to present conditions will in consequence deny that the councils of the Republican party are now in reactionary hands. Under a full and unprejudiced eye of only one impartial judgment, but the facts justify it, that the dollar and the bayonet are the transcendent things in the reactionary thought of the nation. Reid Hays Campaign Fund up in other regions of the earth, it is now in process, of taking from the currents of our life the deadly germ of poison and the separation should be kept ocean-wide. And yet the man who violates the law is no less a lawbreaker than the officer who ignores his constitutional oath to enforce the law.

Things are all right in this country, fundamentally. Our constitution places the power within the people and the statute bought by dollars or the policy influenced by greed, cannot live in conflict with our charter of rights.

Turning toward the future, as members of a party of honorable service and tradition, we have no misgivings as to the destiny of the republic. Its responsibilities in every crisis of the past, have but strengthened its greater trials. The genius who first voiced its rights, and in so doing sounded an inspiration to other lands, left our Democratic organization a chart and compass sufficient for the storms of time. We have only to be ourselves responsive to his precepts, and our continued opportunity to serve humanity will be guaranteed.

What is the meaning of it except that "battered ark of human hope and happiness" is the most treasured thing we possess, and that he who seeks to destroy it or the person who attempts to distort the purpose for which it was built is to be regarded as our enemies are dangerous. It is because we therefore, to recognize, always the importance of maintaining law and order. The spectacle of alien elements, holding themselves exempt from the legal mandates of America, and defiantly prescribing individual Between these two contending forces stands the Democracy of the nation, exposed to both forms of radicalism, committed to the principle of evolution, and believing that if we fight in this manner, we are in a fight for the future of the country. What a debt the country owes to Jefferson! In every trying epoch from Washington to Wilson, the guiding counsel has stood out as a beacon light in the night. Even now, with a situation unparalleled in our history we find his words of wisdom pertinent to two outstanding considerations—tranquillity at home and helplessness abroad. In the address which he delivered to the citizens of Washington on his retirement from office, he made this statement:

"I am sure that the future of our country is in the hands of the people. I am sure that the future of our country is in the hands of the people. I am sure that the future of our country is in the hands of the people."

Let us, therefore, in the name of the people, and in the name of the future of our country, let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation, and let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation.

Let us, therefore, in the name of the people, and in the name of the future of our country, let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation, and let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation.

Let us, therefore, in the name of the people, and in the name of the future of our country, let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation, and let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation.

Let us, therefore, in the name of the people, and in the name of the future of our country, let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation, and let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation.

Let us, therefore, in the name of the people, and in the name of the future of our country, let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation, and let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation.

Let us, therefore, in the name of the people, and in the name of the future of our country, let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation, and let us stand firm and true to the principles of the Democracy of the nation.

PE-RU-NA

THE REMEDY FOR EVERYDAY ILLS

"I have used Peru-na for years in cases of colds and catarrh. The results have been good, in fact, more than you claimed. Have also taken Laxopia and can easily say it is one of the best blood purifiers I have ever used."

Mr. J. F. Arendt

For Catarrh and Catarrhal Conditions

The evidence of one man like Mr. Arendt is more convincing proof of the merit of Peru-na than any written words of ours. For fifty years Peru-na has been the standby of the American family for relief from catarrhal inflammation of the stomach, bowels, bladder, and other organs of the body. Thousands, like Mr. Arendt, have proved the effectiveness of Peru-na for colds, coughs, nasal catarrh, sinusitis, and liver disorders or any disease characterized by a catarrhal condition. It is a true, tried medicine.

Mr. McIntyre is visiting the Brotherhoods in this section of the state in order to get new enthusiasm among the organization.

Released On Bond

Arrested yesterday on a paternity charge, George McClain, an employee of The W. J. Cullum company, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Squire William McClain, and the accused was released on $300 bond, pending his preliminary hearing on Jan. 17.

The complaint was filed by Dorothy Monk, unmarried Mill street young woman, and alleged that McClain, who only recently returned from several months' military service, is the father of her child, now 12 months old.

DRIVE ON VICE IS LAUNCHED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 8.—Redeeming a campaign pledge, the new city administration at daybreak today began its promised war on vice in the capital.
Two theatrical boarding houses were raided because of the alleged immoral herding of certain guests, members of visiting troupes.
All cigar stores, soft-drink parlors and poolrooms were stripped of all vice game paraphernalia and other trade stimulants in the form of punch boards.
Detectives will eradicate all poker games and close all suspicious houses of common resort, police say.

Called To Philadelphia

Rev. Alexander Mackie of Philadelphia who was here to conduct services at Second Presbyterian church during the week of prayer received a telegram yesterday afternoon calling him back to Philadelphia, a member of his church having died Wednesday. Rev. Mackie sent a telegram back asking that the funeral be postponed a day but another message was received saying that it was impossible to postpone the funeral. No services will be held tonight on account of Rev. Mackie being called away. The week of services closed one day early on account of the death message.

PRESIDENT AND BRYAN TAKE OPPOSITE VIEWS

clared, most "secure such compromises as may be possible."

The disagreement between the president and his former secretary of state, the first in public view since Mr. Bryan left the cabinet because he did not agree with the president's course in the diplomatic negotiations with Germany, was thus disclosed as a fact, although it had been rumored and reported in the underground currents of national politics.

In the opinion of the political leaders, it crystallized an issue.

There were a dozen or more other speakers at the dinner, and their views on whether the league should be made a campaign issue were either divided in favor of the president or Mr. Bryan, or else they did not touch on the subjects at all.

Chief of Speeches

The gist of their speeches might easily be epitomized in this fashion: Senator Beveridge—Bryan the treaty with or without reservations.

Former Secretary McAdoo—An arrangement of Republican administration, but no expression about the league.

Secretary Daniels—Mr. Bryan is entitled to credit for the league of nations treaty because his peace investigation convention was the ground work for it.

Senator Hitchcock—Honorable compromise on the league question or a selfish fight.

Senator Owen—Immediate ratification and proceed with reconstruction legislation.

Chairman Committee—Inevitable impulses are carrying the Democratic party back day after day and nearer to victory.

Gov. Connell of West Virginia—American institutions are in danger of being overthrown by the unbridled growth of "a labor union."

Vice Chairman, Kramer—"We accept the cause of battle."

Gov. Cox of Ohio—"The old guard is in control of the party (Republican)"

which it will high wrecked by its greed."

Attorney General Palmer—"The war will not be over in fact until the issues which it has raised are passed upon by the great courts of appeal in America and the judgment of the people is entered."

Former Ambassador Gerard—"The country demands that both sides get together in a compromise to undo and peace given to the world."

Former Speaker Clark—"Democratic accomplishments during the six years entitle the party to a long lease of power."

Most all of the president's message was devoted to an expression of his argument of why he considered it the duty of the United States to join in the league of nations, a statement which he considered the war not really won until it did. Best Treatment for Catarrh S. S. S. Removes the Cause

For The Blood

Once you get your blood free from impurities—cleansed of the catarrh in your case. Get S. S. S. at once and begin treatment. If yours is a long standing case, be sure to write for free expert medical advice. We will tell you how this purely vegetable blood purifier, raw roots in the nostrils; and the remedy cleanses the impurities from the blood by literally washing it clean.

Caused in the first place because your impurified blood was easily infected. Possibly a slight cold or contact with someone who had a cold. But the point is—don't suffer with Catarrh—it is not necessary. The remedy S. S. S. discovered over fifty years ago, tested, time and tried is obtainable at 230 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

MARRIED IN NOVEMBER; SEEKS DIVORCE

Declaring that the defendant, whom he married November 3 last, has refused to live with him, and gives as her only reason that she loves another man, George B. Blair, steelworker, seeks a divorce in an action instituted in common pleas court yesterday against Elene P. Blair.

Blair further alleges in his bill of complaint that his wife continually corresponds with other men, constantly tells him that she does not love him, that there is no use to try to live with him, because she cannot be happy, that she will leave her home and be with whom she pleases, conduct herself as she pleases, and it is none of his business. Furthermore, Blair says, the defendant has abandoned him several times, the last time on Dec. 20, since when she has remained away and has continually associated with immoral characters, he alleges, and declares that life under the conditions forced upon him by the defendant is intolerable, disqualifying him for work and destroying his peace of mind. For these reasons he asks that the marriage be annulled and the partnership dissolved. The plaintiff sued through Attorney D. F. Kimble.

WILL NOT DECREASE KENTUCKY REVENUE

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Loss of revenue from whiskey, beer and wine will not decrease the revenue of Kentucky for 1920, according to the State Tax Commission. The commission's annual report stated that normal increase in property values and in growing industries will offset the loss in taxes of liquor.

The revenue of Kentucky for 1920 without any change in the tax system, was estimated at $12,500,000, whereas in 1918 it was $10,500,000 and in 1917, $12,324,000.

TO CONTRACT FOR RAILROAD

VALPARAISO, CHILE.—The Chilean Congress has authorized the government to contract with a Chilean-Mexican syndicate for the construction of an important railroad to extend eastward from Porto Bellavista, Ecuador, into Brazil and thus give a Pacific outlet to a rich territory hitherto inaccessible.

It is proposed to extend the line 300 miles to Porto Para on the Amazon river in Brazil at a cost of 6,000,000 pesos sterling.

The project has been studied by Chilean engineers and is regarded as of great financial, commercial and political importance. It is expected to promote commercial relations between Ecuador and Chile and to contribute greatly to the industrial and commercial development of the central part of the South American continent.

KEEN FOR BUSINESS

THE HAGUE—Trade conference between bankers, merchants and soldiers of the Entente countries and their trait powers have succeeded in negotiating an armistice in 1918 in the city here and at Amsterdam. The iron, steel, shoes, ships and clothing wares of commerce are the goods instead of the wastes of automobiles, trawp ships and food ships.

Whatever may be the action in America, or England, or France, resulting from the armistice of Germany and Austria, the Netherlands times of the business conference in this country show nothing but a bright prospect for such trade as the world has left.

The conference is one of the first of the kind that groups nations and is the result of a series of meetings of the trade powers in Holland.

Two—British, Dutch, American and one of one of Germany's plenipotentiaries in the Netherlands.

Two—American, British and German plenipotentiaries.

Three—American, British, and German plenipotentiaries.

All of these plenipotentiaries are well world powers, from the armistice, wares of commerce and food for the world.

Aged Woman Is Found Dead

The lifeless body of Mrs. Elizabeth Sexton, aged widow of Edwin Sexton, was found on the kitchen floor of her home, 1225 Lincoln street, shortly after 9 o'clock last night by relatives who had called to investigate reports of her continued absence for the last few days.

Entrance to the home, which was securely locked, was gained through a window. The body of Mrs. Sexton, fully clad, was found lying prone on the kitchen floor, indicating she had been stricken suddenly, dying before she could summon aid. Her purse, undisturbed, was found on the kitchen table nearby.

Courier J. D. Hendrickson, who was summoned immediately, announced that death was due to natural causes. He said, in his opinion the woman had been dead from 24 to 48 hours.

Mrs. Sexton was last seen alive by neighbors Sunday afternoon. Her continued absence prompted a neighbor, Mrs. C. Wesley Bauer, of 1248 Twelfth street, to notify Miss Lucy Deuschle and Mrs. Bertha Schleich, of 1122 Findlay street, wives of the dead woman, and they went at once to the home. Unable to force open the door, Mrs. Schleich crawled in a window, search ending with the finding of the body on the kitchen floor.

According to neighbors, Mrs. Sexton had been in her accustomed good health of late. She was a visitor at the Bauer home last Friday night, and apparently was in the best of health and spirits. It is thought she was a victim of a sudden attack of illness while going about her household duties. A piece of flannel cloth was found across her breast during the coroner's examination.

Mrs. Elizabeth Freund Sexton was born in Portsmouth on December 16, 1842, the daughter of Sebastian and Elizabeth Freund. Her husband, Edwin Sexton, who for many years was a prosperous tobacco dealer in this city, preceded her to the grave about fourteen years ago, since which time she has lived alone in the house in which she died.

She is survived by one son, Albert, of St. Louis; one brother, Charles Freund, of 1597 Gallia street; three nieces, Miss Lucy Deuschle and Mrs. Bertha Schleich of 1122 Findlay street, and Mrs. Rose Mathiot of 1421 Ottawa street, and one nephew, George Freund, the Gallia street druggist.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of the son from St. Louis.

Buchert Accused Of Having Fishing Traps In Possession

Jacob Buchert, who has a shoe repair shop on Findlay street, will be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock on a charge of having fish traps in his possession.

Deputy Game Protector Frank Vorhees made a search of Buchert's premises at 1020 Gay street this morning and found traps and other illegal fishing supplies which he claims belong to Buchert. Vorhees acted on a tip he received through the mail.

DIRT PILE MUST BE REMOVED

Police regulations regarding the storing of building material and debris on the city streets are to be enforced, the chief of police announced today. Chief Joseph Distel announced this morning.

Notice was served on the contractors in charge of the construction of the new auditorium on Gallia street that the pile of dirt on Gallia street must be removed within 24 hours. The contractors heretofore have given as the reason for their delay that the dirt was frozen so hard that it could not be hauled, but Chief Distel said it had thawed out sufficiently now to be removed without difficulty.

The dirt pile has taken up fully half of the thoroughfare for several days. The regulations regarding the placing of red lights on all unattended places in the street is to be enforced, Chief Distel said. Failure to comply will result in the offending contractor being hauled into municipal court, the chief added.

Dallas Jordan, 13, New Boston youth, was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Harry Dunham last night and brought to the jail on a warrant issued from a juvenile court charging him with the serious offense of attempted rape upon Elizabeth, 11-year-old daughter of G. A. Simpkins, New Boston, who filed the complaint. The alleged offense was committed Wednesday and the youth is held pending his hearing before Judge Gilliland.

BUY WHITES

That is the advice of the experienced truck user. His reasons are—

- because they cost less in the end.
- because they can be depended upon in any emergency.
- because he is sure of service one, five or ten years hence.
- because the depreciation is small—and the re-sale value always high.

The largest buyers of White Trucks are firms who keep accurate cost records—the result is that they know they are saving money by using White equipment.

For steadiness of operation, the books will also show the highest percentage of days on duty. Idle trucks mean money lost to the truck owner.

The makers of White Trucks are pioneers and leaders in the industry. They have had the most experience in knowing the problems of truck building—their organization is prepared to give service as long as the life of the truck.

White Trucks are built in four sizes—body types suited to any service.

WATER BOTTLES CONTAINED WHISKEY, EMPTIED INTO AN IRONTON SEWER

The Irontonian this morning said: Iry had been in the local post-office since last June and Mr. Gorman was day had the privilege of pouring into the sewer two gallons of whiskey, but office inspector. It all came about in this way:

Last June a colored man appeared at the parcel post window to send two suit cases, saying, when asked, that they contained clothes. He paid the postage and departed. Later when a clerk at the post-office attempted to stamp the suit cases, the odor of whiskey was apparent.

An examination was made and it was found that the suit cases contained four rubber water bottles, each filled with two quarts of whiskey, two gallons in all. Mr. Gorman reported the matter to the post-office authorities and yesterday he was notified to destroy it. "The tin can of the bottles were badly corroded and this permitted the escape of the liquor fumes."

WHY DOES A GOAT EAT TIN CANS? MOMENTOUS QUESTION ANSWERED

EL PASO, Tex.—Why does a goat eat tin cans with apparent relish? That momentous question—press agitated by all comic artists—was answered by A. C. Cagg, editor of the Angora and Milk Goat Journal of Portland Ore., at the National Mobile Growers association here. The answer is: "He does not eat the can. He eats the label because he likes the picture which holds it on the can."

LITTLE LESSONS IN OPTOMETRY BY BENNETT-BABCOCK

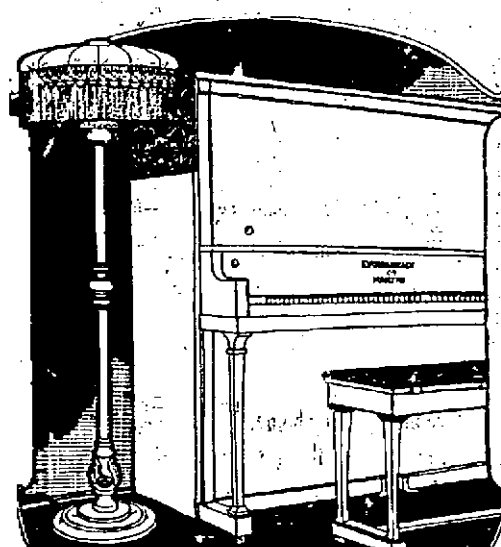

Speaking of the Optician, what is now his status? He is one who prepares the lenses prescribed by the Optometrist, and fits them to the features of the patient.

Most Optometrists are also Opticians, are they not?

Yes, the average Optometrist is able to determine what lenses are required, and to prepare and adjust them so that they will be perfectly and comfortably.

Furniture of Merit Here for Inspection

Believing that the people of Portsmouth demand cheer and comfort for their homes, it is going to be our aim to provide them with character furniture—to be able to give them what they want when they want it. Our large stock embraces all the late patterns and new stock is being received daily. Our extensive buying power enables us to place furniture on our floors at much less prices than though we were buying for only one store. When it becomes known that we operate a large chain of stores throughout the country, people will readily realize that we are enabled to buy in such tremendous quantities that price favors are ours for the mere asking.

And Our Customers Will Get The Benefit

Extensive buying on our part means extensive saving on the part of our customers. We want you to know that you can buy here with the absolute knowledge that you will be saving money. And at the same time our liberal credit policy will enable you to furnish your homes with comparative ease on your part. It is going to be our policy to help you—to assist you and we want you to feel that this store is going to be just as home like as it is possible to make a retail store.

Come in anytime and see what we have to offer. We are improving the appearance of our store at the present time and while you may find us a little "mussed up" at the present time, nevertheless we will assure you of extreme courtesy, splendid values and liberal terms.

SUMMER HATS FOR SOUTHERN WINTERS

When the holidays are over and milady packs her bags to go south, where she may enjoy summer weather during winter months, she will take along some wonderful creations in her handboxes. Here are two fetching models which were shown in the earliest displays by a fifth avenue hatmaker. They are probably now on their way to one of the ornate stores of Florida. The one on the left is a fresh colored silk hat, a portrait of a hat. Gorgeously colored foliage with satin flowers and clusters of grapes form the only trimming. The hat at the right also shows a portrait of a hat. Here the grapes are made of delicate green silk with a border of orchid georgette. Both hats will add a charming finishing touch to the lingerie and set frocks which are so popular now.

THE CARCASS

Like the skeleton is 75 per cent of the tire. It is the framework upon which the rubber is spread to secure the pneumatic effect.

If properly retreaded or vulcanized before the fabric is damaged, the tire will give as much mileage as when new.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Mildred Butz Clark has returned to her home in Akron after a visit to her mother, Mrs. Howard Butz, of Third street, and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells A. Hutchins of Hutchins street will leave Saturday for Miami, Fla., where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Liberty Class of Trinity church met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. M. L. Stephenson on Timmonds avenue. After the devotional service, the hostess managed the evening's entertainment, and several interesting contests were enjoyed, prizes being won by Mrs. E. E. Pierce, Mrs. John Hatfield and Miss Letta Adams. A recitation and musical program was given, preceding the election of officers, which resulted in the following appointments: President, Mrs. M. L. Stephenson; first vice-president, Mrs. Lee Duncan; second vice-president, Mrs. Ella Newman; secretary, Miss Letta Adams; treasurer, Miss Mary Tomblinson. The guests were then served with dairy refreshments by the hostess and her assistants.

Misses Marietta Hicks and Page Geer will spend the weekend with friends in Ashland and will attend the A. H. S. and P. H. S. basketball game.

Miss Fannie Dugan has resigned her position as stenographer in The Times office. She has been succeeded by Miss Nellie Grizer of Sciotoville.

A truism that cannot be denied. It is always the man who KNOWS that is sent for by the Executives. And the man who knows has always prepared for the position ahead. Superior facilities offered by our day and night classes. PORTSMOUTH COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Mrs. W. J. Bruch (Ella Kline) of Walnut street was hostess of an attractive dinner party Thursday evening, the affair being arranged for the members of the J. W. D. Club. Plan To Revive Bicycle Club

An effort is being made to revive the old Portsmouth Bicycle Club, which a few years ago was famous all over the state of Ohio. The plan at present is to have all boys or men owning bicycles to join and in the spring to be organized, elect officers etc., and establish permanent headquarters with a man in charge who could take the boys out on trips during the holidays and when not at school.

A series of races will also be held to establish records and medals and other prizes will be given to be competed for at regular intervals. Several members of the old club, including R. S. Frydman, Oscar Trimmer, Ed Webb, Ralph Chert, John Rottingham, Dave Stahler, George and Will Zeltmann, O. Dyer, J. Wilhelm, Dan Coffey and C. V. Weiss, when interviewed concerning the new club, were very enthusiastic about it and promised to lend their support to establish it.

AN UP-TO-DATE BUNGALOW

DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. EDGECOCK, ARCHITECT

There is a very unique and convenient design for a bungalow, or it may be called a cottage, with rooms on the second floor. The size is 26 ft. in width and 41 ft. in depth, exclusive of porch, front and rear. The entrance is at the right side of the front porch with a vestibule entering the main living room on the right, this room extends across the full width of front and has a central chimney with fireplace and the right side shows the main staircase and the left grouped windows with book shelves. A wide opening connects with the sun room in front, and with dining room in the rear. On the right of dining room is the kitchen in the rear, well fitted with cupboards and rear entry and porch.

On the second floor are two good sized bedrooms and a sleeping porch in the rear. Closets and bath room are also well located. The finish is in pine and painted and enameled white and the floor of birch. The first story finish is in Washington fir and stained a Mission brown. The exterior is finished with cement stucco up to the line of first story window sills and above to the roof shingles and silver gray for the walls are covered with shingles.

DISAGREE ON PROBABLE EFFECT OF WILSON'S LETTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Senators disagreed widely today as to the probable effect on the senate treaty situation of President Wilson's Jackson day letter. Some of the question of ratification of the treaty was carried into the presidential campaign. Among the democrats, generally, it was declared the letter had not changed matters at all, and that the senate would continue. The republicans, however, thought a compromise had been rendered more difficult by the president's action, but said they did not consider that the door had been closed entirely. A still different view was held by the treaty's irreconcilable foes, who declared Mr. Wilson's declaration and the related developments during the democratic gathering here apparently had established definitely that ratification would continue. The senate would be an issue in the campaign.

The Diamonds came within an inch of tying the Norwoods for first place honors in the Masonic League at the Play House Alloys last evening. They started out with the intention of winning three in a row from their opponents, Ed Leach's Lancers, but struck a snag in the first game when they dropped the game to Captain Leach and his men by a margin of almost 100 pins. This, of course, prevented them from overhauling the leaders, but they did not cave in, grabbing the next two games with plus to spare, although the Lancers gave them a run for their money in the last game when the Diamonds were forced to shoot over 300 to win. The Diamonds declare they are going to be in the hunt for first place honors until the last taps and there are several other teams of the same humor. A while back it looked as though the Norwoods were going to run away with the contention, but they have been slipping of late and Captain Horst is anxiously inquiring if there are such things as non-skid chains for bowlers. In the event he is able to purchase a set of five he hopes to check the descent of his men—otherwise there is going to be such a tangled skein that it may take the last game to unravel. There was no great outstanding feature in the Diamond-Lancer game last night. Not a player shot as many as 300, but all were remarkably consistent. Captain Leach was high with 488 with his last night, Dr. Taitz second, with 485. Opponent was third, shooting 483, with George Wilhelm, shooting 480 over for 150. Frank Baker had a great night, selling 473. The scores:

The Rollers harpooned the Scrives two out of three in their postponed match at the Play House club last night, and the Rollers, glorying in a season's record when they shot for a total of 2310, the high game score of the league for 1919-20. This was due to the fact that they totalled 510 in their last game. Outside of the last game the contest was exciting as a tug of war. The Scrives, noted on the Rollers in the first game by seven pins. Then the Rollers, which they opened in the second which came by 15 pins and they ran away to a majority of more than 100. Lowering the Scrives off their feet, Captain Sheridan and the Rollers were high with 545 and the only player to get across the 500 line. But look what Shelton and Hansen of the Rollers did. They came through in great shape, and it was nothing unusual to see these two building stars, going fine in his last game and was tearing up the patch when the last frame ended the fun. Salem Shaw had a poor second game and spoiled a fine average. Captain Patton was high man for his team getting 438, a win in his last game. Bobby McLean, who won J. E. REFUSE TO ACCEPT RESIGNATION

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 9.—Refusal of the fellow members of the national baseball commission to accept the resignation of August Herrmann, as chairman, means that those opposing him have another month in which to decide upon a suitable man for the position. The commission as at present constituted will get together for the last time in Chicago on February 11, after which date Mr. Herrmann gave notice yesterday that he would refuse to serve. The opposition to Herrmann as chairman is said to consist principally of five National League club owners. Aside from consideration of Herrmann's resignation, the principal business accomplished during the commission meeting yesterday was the agreement reached by Presidents Hedges and Johnson to hold a joint meeting of the two leagues in Chicago on February 11. Each league will hold its spring schedule meeting on the preceding day, when playing schedules will be adopted.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 9.—Pitchers and members of the Cleveland American League club are to report for spring training at New Orleans on February 27 and will be followed by other players on March 3. The 1920 trip will be a week longer than last year's trip.

The team will leave New Orleans for the north on April 8 so as to reach Louisville in time to play games there on April 10 and 11, the only exhibition games scheduled in the return trip.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Plans for a professional football league, which are progressing rapidly, according to advisers from Martin's Ferry, where Joe Carr, manager of the Columbus Pan-Hamlet team, was a visitor early this week. The league, if formed, will include Martin's Ferry, Columbus, Cleveland, Canton, Akron, Dayton, Toledo, Massillon, Cincinnati and Fort Wayne.

To Train At Hot Springs

Manager Dick Hoblitzel's Akron team of the International League will train at Hot Springs from March 21 to April 4 and will play exhibition games with the Pittsburgh Pirates the Boston Americans and the Louisville team, all of whom will be there at the time. Hoblitzel expects to secure several players from these clubs.

THE ONLY MAN TO GET DECISION OVER MARTIN IN FRANCE

Gene Tunney

Gene Tunney is one of the young heavyweights now in the scramble to earn a chance to fight Jack Dempsey or Georges Carpentier—or both. Tunney's main claim to fame is that he is the only man who obtained a decision over Bob Martin, inter-allied champion, in France.

RISBERG TO QUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Rube Risberg, Chicago-American shortstop, announces he will resign baseball because of poor pay, to engage in professional basketball.

Has Moved To Cincy

Sam Salvo has sold his farm near Hildesheim, and the Red Butler has moved to the Queen City. The old boy still has his lot of stuff and no doubt will live near the city for the rest of his life.

Ruth Supplants Baker As Home Run King

Home run kings—old and new—are the same baseball club now that the first baseman purchased from Boston by the New York Yankees, Babe Ruth, still a good long distance from a half dozen years ago was known as the dangerous man with the bat who was likely to break up a party by good game at any time. Now comes Ruth the modern man of the bat, with a similar or even more record as a home run king, to the same line-up. Whatever may be said about the New York club in the past it is the truth, that the owners there have labored long and diligently to build up a winter there in order to match the popularity of the Giants. The signing of Ruth is the last word in such an effort and no doubt he will be a great drawing card at the turnstiles if he keeps on mauling the ball. These bachelors at the Polo grounds will often be dented when he smites them.

THE THOUGHT OF ALL

TWO forums have so far been held under the direction of the chamber of commerce. Considering the weather conditions prevailing at the time thereof, the attendance was encouraging and the ideas developed will serve to a good and desirable end. One thing was lacking, a general participation, that is to say a certain lack of general and spontaneous discussion.

The latter is the particular thing for which the forum is designed. The plan is gotten from as far back as when Rome was a genuine democracy, when the people met together as free and equal and in open council determined the course of the republic. Every citizen was at liberty to raise his voice and give expression to his thought. It was not the orators and scholars, who always overshadowed in the deliberations. He who swept the streets, he who carried the litter of the rich and the haughty might predominate. It was the spirit and the idea that ruled. That is what the chamber of commerce is seeking to arrive at. It wishes every citizen who has thought to believe will be beneficial to the city and its people to speak it. He need be neither orator or scholar, he may be even hesitating and halting of tongue—so was Demosthenes, the greatest of all orators, before he began speaking in the forums of Athens—but that makes no difference, he will be willingly and respectfully heard. Yes, no matter how humble he may measure his own powers, he should let himself be heard, for by so doing he will encourage others and the voice of all is wanted.

A LIKE FATE MAY AWAIT

A New York association of actors has petitioned the governing body of the Methodist Episcopal church to eliminate from its book of discipline that paragraph which forbids attendance at theatres, offering as ground, therefore, that the provision casts unjust reflection upon a legitimate and public spirited profession. Undoubtedly, however, the moving principle of the petition lies in the fact that "the movies" are seriously draining the patronage that would otherwise largely go to the theatres.

But it may be that even at that the movies are not the sole reason, the real reason may be found in the deterioration in both quality and character. There seems to be no great stage performers of today, those that attain such distinctions for their delineations that the public has an eager desire to see them and on the other hand the stage has run so strong and persistently to problem presentations and plays that are not wholesome, that leave neither impression, nor memory that can be pleasantly recalled, that people have become satiated with the one kind and to some extent nauseated. Of a truth, so coarse is the general run that a decent minded person is rather hesitant about visiting a theatre until he has first informed himself as to just exactly what he is going to "run up against." This one thing the stage does not seem to realize. The vulgar and the suggestive may spasmodically attract a great patronage, but in time it falls away. That's the law. The unclean perishes, the clean lives.

MR. BRYAN AND THE PRIMARY

A contemporary in discussing his probable presidential candidacy, observes: "No one will dispute that Mr. Bryan was chiefly instrumental in bringing about the defeat of Champ Clark in the Baltimore convention of 1912."

No, no one is likely to dispute that, nor that Mr. Bryan did an excellent day's work, since Wilson was the winner there, but we are wondering if the same free consent will be given to the ethical propriety of this same Mr. Bryan in beating Clark. He, Mr. Bryan, inflicted the primary upon this country more than any other man, so it was "mah cheek," so to speak and as such should have been sacredly and tenderly cherished by its putative father. At a Nebraska primary he was almost unanimously instructed to cast the state's vote for Clark. He did that for awhile and couldn't have done otherwise, since the convention fixed a rule that delegates must vote their instructions, but, as everybody admits, he successfully connived and bestirred himself to bring about the defeat of the man he was instructed by his state, the source from which he derived his authority as delegate, to see nominated. If the primary was the sacred ark of the covenant in which the voice of the people was to be recorded, by the same token was it not incumbent upon its creatures to see that will made effective? If we had much regard for the primary we would say so, but holding towards that farce and failure as we do, we see how easily our judgment might be held biased and we pass it along for the uplifters and the well-wishers, who drink at the fount of which Mr. Bryan is the main spout and let it go at that.

As always even in her inconsistency woman persists in being inconsistent. The female delegation to the Republican committee meeting insists woman shall be placed on an equality with the mere male by having a committeeman for every one he has. But that isn't equality, it is a distinction. If a woman be a Republican she should take preference, not because of her sex, but because she is the more worthy.

The godly anti-saloon league that charged all sorts of crimes and misdemeanors with the ballot on the federal prohibition amendment are not getting much sustenance in the figures. In the forty-eight most run accursed precincts so far the vote make a net gain of 122. If this keeps up their majority may grow to respectable proportions by the time the 6,000 precincts are counted, somewhere before the crack of doom.

New-York - Day - By - Day

BY
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Thought I put in eight hours yesterday. But today is another day. Helped out. Vincenzo de viato, called the other day for home to represent the New York Sun. Due to the late war, many more scholars were washed up on American shores, but none was more interesting than Dr. de viato. He came here on a highly important mission for his government, and then after the war he made a lecture tour and fell hopelessly in love with the middle-west. Some of these days he's coming back to America to live and is going to settle there. "Just any city or village out there will suit me," he declared.

A young man whose peculiar walk is known from coast to coast alights from an automobile near Times Square once every week, turns up his coat collar, puts down his cap and scurries into the back entrance of a building on Broadway. He slips into an office, grabs a package of mail always awaiting him, put of a letter basket, and hikes to a little alleyway in the back of the building, where he peruses it carefully. The young man—and he's not so young anymore, except in spirit—is George M. Cohan. He maneuvers this way because he finds it impossible to report to the usual New York office of saying he's not in. And if he met all the people who want to see him, he could not do anything else. Despite the fact that he has been considered a "soft mark" for the White Way planners for years, he has never been able to say "No" to an entreaty for a touch.

A young lad walked down Fifth Avenue the other day wearing a little suit, silk stockings, a broad lace collar and a black velvet suit. He had lice. Look the happiest, too. And long curls and a wistful white face. I'll bet they are. I used to be happy when I worked. Now I'm unhappy. I'm very fond of lice. I'll have to again. Still to watch.

Wonder if there is a picket fence in New York? Resistant press coming down. Think I'll fallen up. Predestinate come out of the shops at closing time. Look the happiest, too. And long curls and a wistful white face. I'll bet they are. I used to be happy when I worked. Now I'm unhappy. I'm very fond of lice. I'll have to again. Still to watch.

THE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

"This having to go and live at Hammond's Corners is the hardest thing I've had to do since Jim and I were married."

"I admitted this to Athena last today, for I told you blue I had to talk to some one or burst."

"Well, my dear, I hope you never have a more sorrowful night than this. I'm not unsympathetic, but you don't seem to realize, Ann, that this big job of Jim's is a turning point in his career. I only wish every skunk-runner, every woman's servitor were in so good a position as to be able to get out of the house and live in the country. I've had enough of village life."

"What? You talk like a child!" cried Athena. "I'm not meaning wealth, but character. It's Jim's big job that's making this time, not you. Jim's big job is a turning point in his career. I only wish every skunk-runner, every woman's servitor were in so good a position as to be able to get out of the house and live in the country. I've had enough of village life."

"But I'm not hungry for wealth, but, no woman wants a poor scrub for a husband."

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

CHARLES E. HUGHES

Charles E. Hughes, ex-governor of New York and ex-justice of the U. S. supreme court, is put forward by ex-President Taft as an acceptable candidate for the republican nomination for president next June. Mr. Taft believes that it would be no more than justice to nominate Mr. Hughes, who made such a hard fight four years ago, and who, Mr. Taft thinks, could win easily this year.

Charles Evans Hughes was born at Glens Falls, N. Y., in 1862. He was a student at Colgate University, and was awarded an A. B. degree by Brown University in 1884, and an LL. B. by Columbia three years later. Mr. Hughes was admitted to the New York bar in 1884, and practiced law in New York City uninterruptedly until 1891. In the latter year he became a professor of law at Cornell University, a position which he held for two years. During the next seven years he was a special lecturer at Cornell and Columbia. In 1898 he was elected to the New York legislature, and was re-elected two years later, but resigned on October 9, 1900, to become an associate justice of the U. S. supreme court.

When Judge Hughes resigned as a member of the supreme court three and one-half years ago to accept the republican nomination for the presidency he was behind him a brilliant record on the bench. In a close contest he was defeated by President Wilson. During the past three years Mr. Hughes has practiced law in New York.

"I guess you're right," I replied slowly for it is true that I never had looked at it this way before. "Only it does seem such hard luck that Jim couldn't be just as successful here as in Hammond's Corners."

Athena snorted. "You talk like a selfish little pig," she snapped. "The sacrifice won't hurt you one bit. Do you want everything to be handed you on a silver platter as long as you live? A diet of cakes and ale may be pleasant, but it isn't nourishing. It's about as developing to the system as unalloyed happiness is to the soul."

I was silent. I felt rebellious. No body seems to understand me, not even Athena who usually understands everything. I know she is right, but I want a little sympathy anyhow. If I had never known New York it wouldn't be so hard. But to be dragged away just as I was reveling in my first taste of happiness and success and a full, interesting life—away from all my friends, especially Athena, my very mainstay. Nothing to do but keep house."

"You'll have a corking chance to write, you know, Ann." Athena interrupted my musings as if she were reading my mind. "And—and to raise a family."

I sat up at this, feeling almost resentful. Athena met my gaze with her most good-natured grin. "Motherhood is one of the richest experiences in life. You'll never be a complete woman; you'll never be a master of life until you're a mother."

THEY ALL HAVE A HAND IN DUMPING HIM—BUT WHO WILL BE MASTER OF THE PRIZE?

my dear. It repays you a thousand fold, no matter how things turn out. Thus Athena, having dropped her little bomb, went quietly home and left me thinking—

DOC KOKO'S COLUMN

Worth Remembering

The little word worth while is that which teaches us to help ourselves. It is natural but pointless for parents to blame themselves for their children's sorrows. Children must work out their own evolution.

Don't talk about what you are going to do; do it and produce the evidence. When one runs away from a thing, one usually encounters something worse around the corner. Don't pride yourself on how long it took you, but on how well you did it.

Impossible. Jack told me he loved me, but I don't know whether to marry him or not. "Don't you think he tells the truth?" I've no doubt the dear boy tries to, but you see he works in the weather bureau."

Not Much "Eat" in "Meat" Camp Cook: Did you bring the meat? Scout: Sure, I got six cents' worth of steak. Camp Cook: Are you crazy? Scout: No! I paid fifty cents for it. —Doris' Life.

Abolish It So "Look here, Harkus!" "Yes, Liza." "I believe I think you don't love me no more."

"Nonsense, Liza; what put that foolish notion in your head?" "Why, you sit there by the fire and stop me work."

"Why, that dear! The more I sit by this fire and see your work the more I love you, honey."

Now, What Did She Mean?

A busy business woman had engaged outside help to wash and clean up house. As they entered the kitchen, on arrival of the help, who had been recommended as a jewel, the mistress said:

"This kitchen's in an awful state. Mary, I—"

"Never mind, miss; I've used to white folks."

Only Twenty Years Ago Nobody wanted the fly. Nobody wore a wrist watch. Nobody wore white shoes. Most young men had silver bits. Farmers came to town for their mail. The heavens were not full of man-birds. Nor the seas alive with underwater boats. The fitted girl drew on fifty a week and was happy. The butcher "threw in" a chunk of liver. The merchant "threw in" a pair of suspenders with every suit. Nobody "listened in" on the telephone. There were no cars. Fountains nor electric meters. Straw stacks were burned instead of baled. Publishing a country newspaper was not a business—it was a drilling game. There were no Bolsheviks or international anarchists. The safety razor had not introduced the clean-shaven face.

A Good Friend (?) "A good friend, isn't he?" You beamed, replied a friend of George. "He can tell more suspiciously 'what is this small of things' stories, he's more money, pay fresh paint around here?"

"If you'll just wait a few minutes, I'll be glad to tell you more about it," replied the waiter, "but we and no longer wait than any other young ladies at the next table will be going in a minute, sir."

Dogs vs. Pigs As a collecting printer and a boy, this boy had a yellow dog. The dog was for the printer's service, and the boy had turned to the dog and said: "John, if you'll get rid of that yellow dog I'll give you five dollars."

This next night the boy announced that he had gotten rid of the yellow dog and he was duly rewarded with a crisp five-dollar bill. After the night had been paid the father asked: "What did you do with the yellow dog?"

"What?" said the boy. "I traded him for three yellow pigs."

Valuable Collector The great detective stood before the rich merchant, waiting for his instructions. "It's this way," began the merchant. "I have been robbed of hundreds of pounds. A ransom has gone about the country pretending to be a collector of ours. He has simply edited money. Why, in a week, he collected more than all our travelers put together. He must be found as quickly as possible. Spare no expense."

"Right," said the detective. "Within a week he will be in prison." "Prison?" cried the merchant. "Why, man, I don't want him arrested; I want to engage him." —"The Bites."

Always Have And Always Will Mrs. Ego—She is really the worst housewife in the neighborhood. Why, I heard this morning that she—

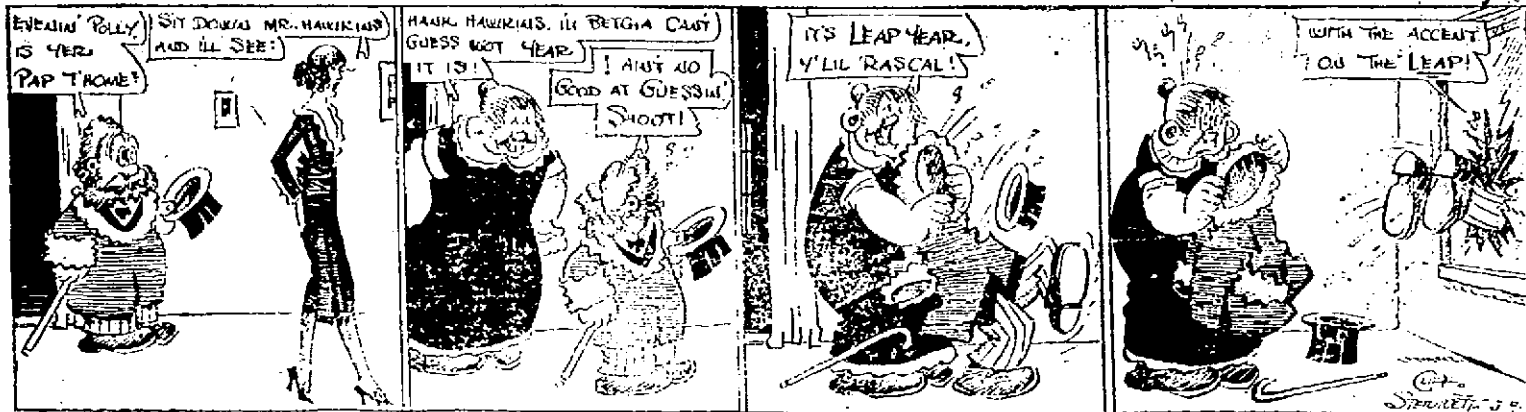

Ego—Come now, don't try to tell her at her own game.

Twenty More, Huh? "I presume you're mighty glad the war is over." "Well, I don't 'jes' know about that," answered Mandy. "Cose I've glad to have Sam back home an' all that, but I know I ain't never going to get money from him to regular as I did when he was in the army an' he was about your kinfolks' financial affairs."

WILSON FAVORS PLACING LEAGUE ISSUE BEFORE VOTERS; BRYAN URGES COMPROMISE PLAN

CALL OFF STEEL STRIKE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 9.—(By wire.)—The national committee calling off the nationwide strike of steel workers, which went into effect September 22, were in receipt of an official order today from the national committee calling off the strike. This action was taken by the committee here last night. The order declared the committee's decision was based on "business mismanagement" by the steel corporation, the press, the courts, federal troops, rights of free speech and free association and the right to organize. The state police and many public officials in that they denied steel workers "their order added that the union will launch an immediate campaign to further organize the workers "and will not cease until industrial justice in the steel industry has been achieved."

The president's message to the party written from the sick room in the White House, and read to the diners, made no mention of a third term for himself and no announcement of an impending retirement to private life as many had predicted it would.

NO MENTION OF THIRD TERM OR RETIREMENT TO PRIVATE LIFE MADE BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—President Wilson's decision that the League of Nations issue should be placed before the voters as a "solemn referendum," and William J. Bryan's contention that the country on the question but should accept such compromises "as may be possible" are the twin surprises of the conference of party chieftains, which found its climax in the annual Jackson day dinner.

GOVERNOR COX CHARGES REPUBLICANS WITH BEING REACTIONARY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Charging the republican party with being reactionary, Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, speaking at the Jackson Day dinner here, declared the "democracy of the nation" stands between reaction and that form of radicalism "which is impatient with the processes of orderly government." He charged the republicans with creating the most stupendous funds ever known "for campaign purposes and that Ohio's required quota is $50,000." Governor Cox in his address said:

"The chairman of the national committee in assuming no text to the speakers, doubtless believed and desired that personal inclination influenced by the condition that surrounded us, would yield what might be regarded as a representative statement of the national political situation."

In Ohio we are several hundred miles from the federal seat of government, and the expression of policy into law, with all the slight of hand, the background is seen by us through the perspective of distance. By geographical location, we are in close contact with the chivalry and fine sentiment of the South, and the rugged qualities of the forest states to our north. We assimilate what of western experimentation in government appeals to our people, and we hold in check whatever of reaction comes from the East. It has been said from without the state that in consequence of this, the Ohio viewpoint is the composite thought of the nation. We Ohioans have been too modest to admit the claim, and too cautious to challenge it. However, that may be, the chain of events and the conditions flowing from them, particularly in the last year, have made a distinct impression on our people. The situation at the national capital where matters finally focus, and results accrue upon which public judgment is passed, has been twelve months in the making. It may be well to recount the outstanding circumstances of that process.

First Republican Tactics. We recall the political contest of the 1915 with its every phase. The Democrats voiced the pride that deserved place in every American heart on the part of the country had played in war.

accepting responsibility and offering no apology for the policy upon which that great achievement was based. On the other hand, Republican leaders have seemed sympathetic ear and word, as a shield for poisonous partisanship, to every momentary complaint born of the stirred emotions of the time. The wounds of a bleeding nation were set upon with almost scholastic enthusiasm and an attempt made to turn heartaches and anxieties into bitterness against governmental authority. It was for these misguided zealots in an ignoble cause, however, to discover that the conscious sense of service and sacrifice was but a resounding compensation for all that had been given and lost.

But this was not the worst feature of that campaign. The Republican leaders exhibited, notoriously with every distasteful group. The result in 1915 was not a Democratic defeat. No political party which denies intercourse with treason suffers a reverse in so doing. The Democracy fought that battle with its ranks as free from traitors as did the gallant American legions overseas, and it came out of it triumphant in its self-respect, face forward to the present and the future.

Undaunted, it has continued its support not only of our soldiers in Europe but of our Commander-in-Chief in America. From that day until this, it has recognized the pressing task of the hour to be the formal ending of the war—the completion of the vast job which the mantle of human conscience and of God himself had committed to America.

And what of the opposition? In dealing with it, I speak of the Republican leaders only, because in the great rank and file of both parties, patriotism abides. One must ask himself, however, why it is that the Republican leaders move with such defiance to both public interest and public opinion as to confound human understanding.

When soldiers were finally returning to their homes, when kingdoms build in policy and domain out of the ruins of blasted hopes and broken hearts, had fallen to pieces from the wrath of time, and millions of people needed the balance and strength of a

MILLION DOLLAR FIRE ON AMERICAN LINER ST. LOUIS

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Damage to the American liner steamer St. Louis which burned at the Hoboken shipyard last night, was estimated at $1,000,000 early today. The interior of the ship was wrecked and her plates badly warped. The origin of the fire is not known.

When at midnight the St. Louis listed and settled against the steamer Kirookland, it was feared that craft was in peril. However, bands standing by kept streams of water playing on her and she did not take fire, although the sides were scorched.

The St. Louis was being refitted as a passenger steamer after service as a transport ship during the war.

RATIFICATION OF TREATY WITH AMERICANS OR WITHOUT RESERVATIONS, POMERENE'S VIEW ON SUBJECT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—Ratification of the peace treaty, with or without reservations and no government ownership of railroads, were the outstanding points of the address of Senator Pomerene at the Jackson Day dinner.

"Stabilization, not agitation," was declared by the speaker to be the demand of the hour, and ratification of the treaty to be the first step toward reaching this condition.

"The American people demand ratification," he continued. "They believe it to be the first step toward world peace. I do not doubt our allies will accept the best they can get at the hands of the senate."

"Opponents of the league of nations should not forget that there already is a league of internationalists, Bolshewists and I. W. W.'s."

Turning to the railroad problem, Mr. Pomerene said:

"It is with extreme regret that I learn an effort may be made to commit the Democratic party to government ownership of railroads."

"If there ever was any substantial sentiment in this country for government ownership, it has disappeared in the face of the experiment we have had in the last two years."

The Plumb plan, advanced by the railroad unions, was denounced as a scheme "so akin to Russian socialism" that the speaker was amazed that any American believing in the institutions of this country could suggest it. Detailing his objections to government ownership, Mr. Pomerene said such a scheme would mean the sale of billions in bonds which would depress other government obligations and would involve intricate legal questions between the states and national government.

Mr. Pomerene said the economic situation was not "half as bad" as painted with workmen receiving the highest pay in history and more savings accounts than ever before.

They laid in wait at a point, where they thought the munitions would be landed and when they saw the boats appeared the rebels believed they were carrying arms to the Mexican forces. Fire was opened upon the two men, who were killed.

It is said government forces are pursuing the bandits and that the foreign office has been asked to call upon authorities for information regarding the shooting of the two Americans.

President Wilson's contention that there can be no reasonable objection to interpretations "to say what the intended meaning of the league is," is thought by some of those on both sides of the contest, may speed the movement.

Senator Lodge's contention that the treaty without reservations which it is contended will "Americanize" it, takes a wholly opposite view and has issued a statement declaring that the president's message makes impossible the ratification of the treaty without reservations.

Senator Owen's contention that the treaty without reservations which it is contended will "Americanize" it, takes a wholly opposite view and has issued a statement declaring that the president's message makes impossible the ratification of the treaty without reservations.

Senator Owen's contention that the treaty without reservations which it is contended will "Americanize" it, takes a wholly opposite view and has issued a statement declaring that the president's message makes impossible the ratification of the treaty without reservations.

Many of the Democratic diners freely said that portion was a distinct surprise to them.

Democrats Have Complicated Issue. Today the rank and file of the Democratic party as well as the leaders, throughout the country, are studying the opposite announcements of the two national leaders and are attempting to assess their effects on the party's fortunes at the nominating convention, which will be held in San Francisco, June 28, and at the polls next November.

Many political observers feel that it is yet too early to accurately estimate the position in which the cleavage between the president and the foremost Democrat in private life leaves the party.

Whether the position of the two men now definitely announced, means a fight in the national convention resulting of the spectacular battle in Baltimore in 1912, when Bryan forced the president's nomination and reversed the traditional practice of the party conventions in giving a nomination to a candidate who commanded a majority vote, none of the party leaders is willing to predict for publication.

Sentiment Divided. Sentiment among Democratic leaders at the Jackson dinner as expressed in their speeches seemed to be divided between support of the president's decision and Bryan's position, while some of the men who are in the list of nominating possibilities did not touch on the subject at all.

It seems agreed that Mr. Bryan's argument that the treaty should be ratified with such compromises as may be possible will give a tremendous impetus to the movement which steadily has been going on in the under currents of the senate for a get together in which the so-called irreconcilables and those who stand for ratification of the treaty without reservations, whatever may find a common ground and join with the mild reservationists in putting thru the covenant.

President Wilson's contention that there can be no reasonable objection to interpretations "to say what the intended meaning of the league is," is thought by some of those on both sides of the contest, may speed the movement.

Senator Lodge's contention that the treaty without reservations which it is contended will "Americanize" it, takes a wholly opposite view and has issued a statement declaring that the president's message makes impossible the ratification of the treaty without reservations.

Senator Owen's contention that the treaty without reservations which it is contended will "Americanize" it, takes a wholly opposite view and has issued a statement declaring that the president's message makes impossible the ratification of the treaty without reservations.

Chillicothe Five Prepared To Give The Selects Hard Game

Basketball Contest On Saturday Night Will Be A Titanic Struggle

The Chillicothe Athletic club basketball team will appear in this city Saturday night, January 10, at which time they will match their skill with the Selects of this city. The Selects have never been beaten by any team from Chillicothe, but this year's C. A. C. team is breaking this record. The Selects are just as confident that they can handle this year's Chillicothe team.

The Selects are making great improvement in their team work. Showman, former P. H. S. star football player, is a great help to the Selects in helping keep the visitors score down. Barber, who was unable to get in the first game will be back in uniform again Saturday. Woods, Wells, Edwards, Doll, Fortner and Kent comprise the Select line-up.

The Chillicothe team has a wonderful bunch of basketball tossers this year. Orelley and Curry are well known to local fans, having appeared here in high school and semi-pro games. Both are finished athletes. Curtright made a wonderful record at Chillicothe in 1917-18.

The Selects have finally looked a game with the Dayton Cadets, one of the best teams in the country today. A contract was mailed them today. It is an assured fact that they will win. They will receive one of the biggest guarantees ever paid a basketball team to play here. It will mean that the Selects will have to get four hundred people out for this game to break even. They should have no trouble in doing this, owing to the high caliber of the two teams.

See Signs With Reds

CINCINNATI, Jan. 9.—Morris Rath and Charley See have signed up for the coming season. Rath was reasonable in his requests for a raise, and his terms were accepted by the club with no hesitation. See also signed willingly and will be taken South and given every chance to secure a regular berth on the champion club.

OVER A HUNDRED TIMES CHAMPION

Bobby McLean ready for the crack of the pistol.

Bobby McLean is champion of all champions in the ice skating game. At fifteen he won the international title and in the next four years collected 113 championship titles. He has won fifteen international titles and holds nine world's amateur and professional records. He is also noted as a fancy and trick skater.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Plans for a professional football league in Ohio are progressing rapidly, according to reports from Martin's Ferry, Columbus, Cleveland, Canton, Akron, Dayton, Toledo, Massillon, Cincinnati and Fort Wayne.

To Train At Hot Springs

Manager Dick Holtzcliff's Akron team of the International League will train at Hot Springs from March 21 to April 4 and will play exhibition games with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Boston Americans and the Louisville team, all of whom will be there at the time. Holtzcliff expects to secure several players from these clubs.

THE ONLY MAN TO GET DECISION OVER MARTIN IN FRANCE

Gene Tunney.

Gene Tunney is one of the young heavyweights now in the scramble to earn a chance to fight Jack Dempsey or Georges Carpentier—or both. Tunney's main claim to fame, to date, is that he is the only man who obtained a decision over Bob Martin, inter-allied champion, in France.

The Diamonds came within an ace of tying the Norwoods for first place honors in the Masonic League at the Play House Alley last evening. They started out with the intention of winning three in a row from their opponents, Ed Leach's Lactones, but struck a snag in the first game when they dropped the game to Captain Leach and his men by a margin of almost 100 pins. This, of course, prevented them from overhauling the leaders, but they did not care in grabbing the next two games with pins to spare, although the Lactones gave them a run for their money in the last game when the Diamonds were forced to shoot over 300 to win. The Diamonds declare they are going to be in the hunt for first place honors until the bell taps and there are several other teams of the same humor. A while back it looked as though the Norwoods were going to run away with the gonfalon, but they have been slipping of late and Captain Hlor is anxiously inquiring if there are such things as non-skid chains for bowlers. In the event he is able to purchase a set of five he hopes to check the descent of his men—otherwise there is going to be such a tangled skein that it may take the last game to unravel. There was no great outstanding features in the Diamond-Lactone game last night. Not a player shot as many as 500, but all were remarkably consistent. Captain Leach was high with 488, with his lead-off man, Dr. Tatje second, with 485. Updgrat was third, shooting 485, with George Wilhelm, topping him over for 490. Frank Baker had a great night, getting 473. The scores:

The rollers harpooned the Scribes two out of three in their postponed match at the Fellowship club allers last night, and the rollers, glory be, hung up a season's record when they shot for a total of 2210, the high game being of the league for 1919-20. This was due to the fact that they totaled 849 in their last game. One side of the last game the contest was exciting as a tug of war. The Scribes needed out the rollers in the first game by seven pins. Then the rollers whacked their opponents in the standard game by 15 pins and then ran away to a majority of more than 100, leaving the Scribes off their feet.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Jan. 9.—Despite lack of direct word from M. J. Sullivan, both men expressed confidence that the proposed boxing match between the Frenchman and Jack Dempsey, heavy weight champion, were expected to advance a step. N. & W. WINS FIFTH STRAIGHT GAME

Engine Workers speeded up in the first half, getting a lead of over 35 points on their opponents. The Dreads came back strong in the second half, making 27 points, and for a while it looked as if they would win in spite of the long lead against them. But the Railroaders took a second break, and made enough baskets to win the game with plenty to spare.

The feature of the game was the basket throwing of Blake, who made 12 field goals—Blake 10, Englebrecht 12, Wallace 9, Mold 3, Drew 1, Chick 1, Adams 1.

Ruth Supplants Baker As Home Run King

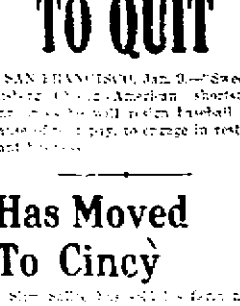

Home run kings—old and new—are the same baseball club now that Babe Ruth has been purchased from Boston by the New York Yankees. Frank Baker, still a good long distance hitter, a half dozen years ago was known as the dangerous man with the bat who was likely to break up a perfectly good game at any time.

Charles Jewtraw, national and western amateur champion skater, carried off the honors in the recent western championship events at Newburgh, N. Y. Jewtraw was the quarter-mile, half-mile and mile champion. He was defeated by Bryant, teammate of Jewtraw's from Lake Placid, which secured him the half-mile. A big field of skaters from the eastern and northern states took part.

THE THOUGHT OF ALL

TWO forums have so far been held under the direction of the chamber of commerce. Considering the weather conditions prevailing at the time thereof, the attendance was encouraging and the ideas developed will serve to a good and desirable end. One thing was lacking, a general participation, that is to say, a certain lack of general and spontaneous discussion.

The latter is the particular thing for which the forum is designed. The plan is gotten from as far back as when Rome was a genuine democracy, when the people met together as free and equal and in open council determined the course of the republic. Every citizen was at liberty to raise his voice and give expression to his thought. It was not the orators and scholars, who always overshadowed in the deliberations. He who swept the streets, who carried the litter of the rich and the haughty might predominate, was the spirit and the idea that ruled. That is what the chamber of commerce is seeking to arrive at. It wishes every citizen who has thought that he believes will be beneficial to the city and its people to speak it. He need be neither orator or scholar, he may be even testifying and halting of tongue—so was Demosthenes, the greatest of all orators, before he began speaking in the forums of Athens—but that makes no difference, he will be willingly and respectfully heard. Yes, no matter how humble he may measure his own powers, he should let himself be heard, for by so doing he will encourage others and the voice of all is wanted.

LIKE FATE MAY AWAIT

A New York association of actors has petitioned the governing body of the Methodist Episcopal church to eliminate from its book of discipline that paragraph which forbids attendance at theatres, offering as ground therefor that the provision casts unjust reflection upon a legitimate and public spirited profession. Undoubtedly, however, the moving principle of the petition lies in the fact that "the movies" are seriously draining the patronage that would otherwise largely go to the theatres.

But it may be that even at that the movies are not the sole reason, the real reason may be found in the deterioration in both quality and character. There seems to be no great singe performers of today, those that attain such distinctions for their delineations that the public has an eager desire to see them and on the other hand the stage has run so strong and persistently to problem presentations and plays that are not wholesome, that leave either impression, nor memory that can be pleasantly recalled, that people have become satiated with the one kind and to some extent nauseated. Of a truth, so coarse is the general run that a recent minded person is rather hesitant about visiting a theatre until he has first informed himself as to just exactly what he is going to "run up against." This one thing, the stage does not seem to realize. The vulgar and the suggestive may spasmodically attract a great patronage, but in time it falls away. That's the law. The unclean perishes, the clean lives.

MR. BRYAN AND THE PRIMARY

A contemporary in discussing his probable presidential candidacy, observes: "No one will dispute that Mr. Bryan was chiefly instrumental in bringing about the defeat of Champ Clark in the Baltimore convention of 1912."

No, no one is likely to dispute that, nor that Mr. Bryan did an excellent day's work, since Wilson was the winner there, but we are wondering if the same free consent will be given to the ethical propriety of this same Mr. Bryan in beating Clark. He, Mr. Bryan, inflicted the primary upon this country more than any other man, and it was "mah cheed," so to speak and as such should have been scorned and tenderly cherished by its putative father. At a Nebraska primary he was almost unanimously instructed to cast the state's vote for Clark. He did that for awhile and couldn't have done otherwise, since the convention fixed a rule that delegates must vote their instructions, but, as everybody admits, he successfully connived and bestirred himself to bring about the defeat of the man he was instructed by his state, the source from which he derived his authority as delegate, to see nominated. If the primary was the sacred ark of the covenant in which the voice of the people was to be recorded, by the same token was it not incumbent upon its creatures to see that will made effective? If we had much regard for the primary we would say so he it, but holding towards that farce and failure as we do, we see how easily our judgment might be held in check and we pass it along for the uplifters and the sellers, who drink at the fount of which Mr. Bryan is the main vent and let it go at that.

As always even in her inconsistency woman persists in being inconsistent. The female delegation to the Republican committee meeting insists woman shall be placed on an equality with the male by having a committeeman for every one he has. But that isn't equality, it is a distinction. If a woman be a Republican she should take preference, not because of her sex, but because she is the more worthy.

The godly anti-saloon league that charged all sorts of crimes and misdemeanors with the ballot on the federal prohibition amendment are not getting much sustenance in the figures. In the forty-eight most ruin accursed precincts so far the wets make a net gain of 122. If this keeps up their majority may grow to respectable proportions by the time the 6,000 precincts are counted, somewhere before the crack of doom.

New - York - Day - By - Day

BY
O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Thoughts while strolling around Manhattan: A little coffee shop named for Clementine. All the Fifth Avenue boulevardiers wearing a white carnation boutonniere. And they smell of perfume! Madison Square Garden. A jumble of old architectural pile. Wonder how many stories have been written about the gifted tin Diana atop the cupola. Irving Berlin and Constance Talmadge in a study master. Say they're engaged. Flat little dainties look like Piccadilly. Quite the rage. Great big store sells only electrical appliances. Something new. Employ 500 clerks. An age of specialization. Every shop has ouija boards for sale. Crazy to chat with spirits even spreads all their time getting a slant on the "life beyond." I don't want to know. My guess is it's got this beaten. Old Boss Croker coming out of the Holland House. Doesn't look 80. Holland House is soon to be torn down. All the landmarks going.

Upstairs clothing shops everywhere. Whiskey signs supplanted with flashing cigarette ads. Al Jolson back in town for the sixth time with the same show. Ice skating rinks seem to be packed. There's George Broadhurst buying hot chestnuts. Always a boy. Women wearing rubber bands in their skirts to hold them tight around the ankles. Hop like kangaroos. And at the opera a society woman stepped from her cab during a snow storm holding over her head a tiny parasol made of electric plumes. Yet there are very few bombs thrown in New York. Whether if there is a picket fence in New York? Restaurant prices coming down. Think I'll fatten up. Prettiest girls come out of the shops at closing time. Look the happiest, too. And I'll bet they are. I used to be happy when I worked. Now I'm unhappy because I fear I'll have to again. Still to watch.

A young lad walked down Fifth Avenue the other day wearing a silk cash, silk stockings, a broad, lace collar and a black velvet suit. He had long curls and a wistful white face. I was a Little Lord Fauntleroy in when I worked. Now I'm unhappy because I fear I'll have to again. Still to watch.

THE MARRIED AN AVERAGE MAN

"This having to go and live at Hamilton's Corners is the hardest thing I've had to do since Jim and I were married."

I admitted this to Athena Hest today for I am so blue I had to talk to some one or burst.

"Well, my dear, I hope you never have a worse sorrow," said my old friend. "I'm not misanthropic, but you don't seem to realize. And that this big job of Jim's is a turning point in his career. I only wish every woman's sacrifices were in so good a cause. The trouble is, millions of wives have to crucify themselves in the most thankless ways. Why I know a dozen women whose married lives have been just one sacrifice after another with nothing to show for it."

"But I'm not hungry for wealth."

Athena, I argued. "Money's no good if you have to lose every pleasure in life to get it. How can I LIVE away from New York? I don't even want to live if I've got to bury myself in the country. I've had enough of village life."

"What! You talk like a child!" cried Athena. "I'm not meaning wealth, but character. It's Jim I'm thinking of this time, not you. A Jim was going down hill like a Norwegian ski-runner. Only he wasn't caring whether he landed anywhere or not. Then your success at writing landed him up, and he got this big job. Don't you see you must keep up your good work? Not for the money's sake, but for character's sake? You must make Jim successful and keep him successful. No woman wants a poor scrub for a husband."

"You talk like a selfish little pig," she snapped. "The sacrifice won't hurt you one bit. Do you want everything to be handed you on a silver platter as long as you live? A diet of cakes and ale may be pleasant, but it isn't nourishing. It's about as developing to the system as unalloyed happiness is to the soul."

I was silent. I felt rebellious. No body seems to understand me, not even Athena, who usually understands everything. I know she is right, but I want a little sympathy now and then. If I had never known New York it wouldn't be so hard. But to be dragged away just as I was reveling in my first taste of happiness and success and a full, interesting life . . . Away from all my friends, especially Athena, my very mainspring. Nothing to do but keep house . . . "You'll have a cooking chance to write, you know, Ann," Athena interrupted my misgivings as if she were reading my mind. "And—and to raise a family."

I sat up at this, feeling almost resentful. Athena met my glare with her most good-natured grin.

"Well—why not?" she said calmly. "Motherhood is one of the richest experiences in life. You'll never be a complete woman; you'll never be a master of life until you're a mother."

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

CHARLES E. HUGHES.
 Charles E. Hughes, ex-governor of New York and ex-justice of the U. S. supreme court, is put forward by ex-President Taft as an acceptable candidate for the republican nomination for president next June. Mr. Taft believes that it would be no more than justice to nominate Mr. Hughes, who made such a hard fight four years ago, and who, Mr. Taft thinks, could win easily this year.

(Charles Evans Hughes was born at Glens Falls, N. Y., in 1862. He was a student at Colgate University, 1878-83, and was awarded an A. B. degree by Brown University in 1884, and an LL. B. by Columbia three years later. Mr. Hughes was admitted to the New York bar in 1884, and practiced law in New York city uninterruptedly until 1891. In the latter year he became a professor of law at Cornell University, a position which he held for two years. During the next seven years he was a special lecturer at Cornell and Columbia on law subjects, but at this period he devoted most of his time to the practice of corporation law. It was in 1905 that Mr. Hughes gained a national reputation by alleging insurance scandals in New York. As a result of his brilliant work as counsel for the Armstrong insurance commission he was nominated by the Republicans for the governorship of New York in 1906, and elected. He was re-elected two years later, but resigned on October 6, 1910, to become an associate justice of the U. S. supreme court. When Judge Hughes resigned as a member of the supreme court three and one-half years ago to accept the republican nomination for the presidency, he had behind him a brilliant record on the bench. In a close contest he was defeated by President Wilson. During the past three years Mr. Hughes has practiced law in New York.)
